FILIBUSTER RULES AS CONGRESS ENDS

BIG PROBLEMS UNSOLVED IN 69TH SESSION

Lifts Nearly 4 Billions Off Nation's Tax Burden in
Two Year Term
EXPANDS DEFENSE FORCE

Muscle Shoals, Farm Relief, Merchant Marine, Canyon Dam Unsettled

Washington—(AP)—In writing its legislative history the sixty-ninth congress placed upon the statute books a number of major laws, but it will pass on to its successor many perplexing problems.

In its two years of office it eased the nation's tax burden by nearly four hundred million dollars; approved foreign debt settlements aggregating three billions of dollars, and expanded the country's defense forces both by air and by sea.

To the seventeenth congress it left the solution of the long vexing question of Muscle Shoals, farm relief, Boulder Canyon dam, merchant marine maintenance, coal control legislation, alien property and railroad consolidation.

Coming into office on the Coolidge land slide of 1924, the existing congress was generally in agreement with the president during the first and long session, ending last July, but disagreed with him upon many questions in its last three months' reign.

CHANGE ON FARM BILL

At the outset a major change occurred in the views of the executive enactment of farm relief legislation along lines of the McNary-Haugen plan. In less than nine months, however, both the house and senate reversed their position, passing the bill and sending it to the president. The McNary-Haugen plan, which was passed by the house, was a bill to provide for the construction of three additional scout cruisers, and over his expressed opposition, it appropriated funds for this purpose.

An inquiry by a senate committee into the Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana senatorial primaries was made. As a result of the disclosures, Frank L. Smith of Illinois, was denied a place in the senate, even temporarily under appointment by Governor Small, after his election and a contest was initiated against the election of William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, as a senator in the next congress.

The Watson-Parker bill for amicable settlements of disputes between the railroads and their employees, measures for the expansion of the army and navy air services, and the river and harbor and public buildings authorization bills are some other bills passed.

Other general legislation of importance which gained approval included that for radio control, for branch banking, for world war and other veterans and development of the public domain.

COOLIDGE SIGNS BILLS
Among many bills signed Friday by President Coolidge during the closing hours of the session was the prohibition reorganization measure, creating a bureau for prohibition enforcement and customs in the treasury department, and placing prohibition agents under the civil service.

Other measures signed included: Appropriating $75,000 to pay the expenses of the American commission to the preliminary disarmament conference in Geneva; and one authorizing the veterans bureau to make loans to veterans on their bonus certificates.

The report of the senate elections committee declaring the credentials of senators-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith of Illinois, were in "due form" was presented Friday to the senate. Vice President Daves said it stood "as received."

MILLER GUILTY--NO VERDICT ON DAUGHERTY ZUEHLKE RESIGNS AS POSTMASTER

PROFESSOR CANCELS ADDRESS WHEN HE HEARS WORD "LIE"

Berlin—(AP)—The word "lie" prompted Prof. James T. Shotwell, of Columbia university, New York, to refrain from making a promised speech at a meeting in the Reichstag building Thursday night.

He accepted the invitation to address the gathering, arranged by the working committee of the League of German societies, in belief Germany's foreign policy as regards the world war was to be the general subject, but when he learned other speakers were to talk on the "war guilt lie," he felt justified in seeking release from his promise. Dr. Shotwell, Carnegie professor at the German Institute of Politics, explained later he had strenuous objections to appearing "upon any platform at home or abroad where the word 'lie' was up for discussion, especially when directed at others, who in their hearts may be acting in all good faith."

POSTPONE TRIAL OF 100 PERSONS IN BROWN-CO CLEANUP

Charge Detective Operative
With Committing Perjury
on Witness Stand

Green Bay—(AP)—That Val Jasinski, operative for a detective agency and informant in the Green Bay and Brown-co cleanup crusade committed perjury in the witness box during the preliminary hearings here recently was charged by M. E. Davis, defense counsel, when court opened Friday morning. Trial of nearly 100 persons which was started Friday morning was postponed until March 10.

The charge was based on Jasinski's denial that he ever had been convicted of crime. Asked whether he was the Val Jasinski who pleaded guilty to a forgery charge in Wisconsin Rapids in 1914, he later stated that it was his brother, whose middle initial was the same as his first.

Jasinski's attorney in the forgery case, according to Mr. Davis, positively identified his erstwhile client as the witness in the present actions. Other officials are equally positive. The Green Bay lawyer stated, and, pointing out that perjury in the presence of the court is contempt of court, asked that a warrant be issued for Jasinski.

WANTS MORE EVIDENCE
"This is a very serious charge," the court declared. "Had the court not seen this witness testify, he would cause a warrant to be issued forthwith. But the witness was warned of the consequences of perjury, and I cannot conceive of any witness, no matter how depraved, persisting in such a course. The witness appeared to be an intelligent man, and I should like to have some evidence of perjury produced by the state before causing a warrant to be issued."

Mr. Davis then offered to place the evidence in his possession in the hands of a disinterested special prosecutor, who might investigate and confirm the information.

"I should like to do some investigation myself," said District Attorney Raymond E. Evard, and upon suggestion of Mr. Davis, it was agreed to bring Jasinski's former attorney here Saturday for identification.

MINNESOTA G. O. P. MEN WANT LOWDEN TO RUN

St. Paul—(AP)—Republican representatives from every congressional district in Minnesota have formally joined an organization to support former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, as Republican presidential candidate in 1928.

Meeting in secret session here Thursday night, the representatives formed an executive committee and sent a telegram to Mr. Lowden, asking him to become the national party standard-bearer at the next election, and assuring him that they would support him.

Representatives at Thursday night's meeting were said to have been outspoken in their condemnation of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

CHICAGO CELEBRATES NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

Chicago—(AP)—Friday is Chicago's ninetieth birthday. March 4, 1837, the day Martin Van Buren was inaugurated as president, the Illinois legislature at Springfield passed a bill granting the town of Chicago a city charter.

BORAH SAYS NOTE NO SLAM AT KELLOGG

Merely Wanted Direct Information for Calles on Oil Land Controversy

Copyright 1927 By Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Senate Borah of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, in a special interview with this correspondent explained Thursday why he had communicated with President Calles of Mexico for information with respect to the oil land controversy.

"I had no intention," he said, "to reflect in any way on the department of state. I wanted certain information and I wanted to get it direct. I recognize that some of the information which comes through diplomatic channels is sometimes inadequate but because oftentimes our representatives abroad feel called upon to supply only that information which sustains a particular policy."

"I met President Calles when he was in Washington. I felt sure I could get the necessary data by telegraphing him direct. Now, as to the right of a United States senator to seek information anywhere he pleases, I cannot for a moment concede that this is in any way prohibited by law."

DECIDES ON PROPRIETY
"It is all a question of propriety and for each individual senator to decide what the proprieties are. For instance, I would not attempt to communicate with another government if we were negotiating a treaty or had some other matter directly under consideration. I sent for the statistics on Mexican oil concessions because I was inclined to doubt some of the statements made by the oil companies in New York. I got the information in January for my own use. I was not sending an official communication as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, but as an individual senator I have the right to inform myself."

"Why Senator Lodge used to keep up a constant correspondence with members of the British cabinet and other Europeans during the time the Versailles peace conference was going on and he read the letters to us in the senate foreign relations committee, Senator Sumner communicated with the British government during the Mason-Shield affair."

LOGAN ACT DOESN'T APPLY
"As for the Logan act, it does not apply either to this case or any other in which an individual merely seeks information. It applies to those who attempt to influence a foreign government's policy in such a way as to cause a citizen or newspaper can seek information from a foreign government. It cannot be contended that a senator has less right than a private citizen."

Senator Borah did not care to discuss the propriety of the Mexican president's reply to him instead of the secretary of state. He said, however, that he had received many communications from various foreign officials, particularly Juan Sacasa, head of the rebellion in Nicaragua. He did not answer Sacasa, but in the cases of letters from China and elsewhere he acknowledged them, though in none of these cases was the correspondence at his initiative.

Senate Borah made it clear that his sole object in pursuing the Mexican controversy was to clear up whether the American government was lending its support to oil companies whose titles were really invalid.

FRENCH EMBASSY IN U. S.
LOSES CHOICE LIQUORS
Washington—(AP)—A shipment of choice liquors to the French embassy, intended for diplomatic consumption, was tampered with on its way to Washington from France and one-fourth of the consignment is missing. This has been established by the Washington Post which said Friday that attaches at the embassy were wondering who broke the diplomatic seals and took a part of the precious liquor stock.

GETS BAD CONDUCT MARK: YOUNG BOY KILLS SELF

St. Louis—(AP)—Blakely Dales Farin, 15, high school student here, committed suicide Thursday night by shooting himself with a rifle. His mother ascribed his act to a mild reproof for a "bad conduct" mark on his school report card.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS NOTES TO MEXICO

Rumors That U. S. Requested Recall of Ambassador Are Denied

Washington—(AP)—A formal denial that the United States had demanded the recall of Mexican Ambassador Tellez, who left Washington Thursday night for Mexico City, was issued Friday by Acting Secretary Grew of the State Department.

Mr. Grew's statement follows: "The report that the Mexican ambassador's recall has been demanded by the United States is without foundation and this government has no information concerning the purpose of his visit to Mexico City."

The mystery surrounding the subject of the recent exchange of diplomatic notes between the United States and Mexico has been deepened, as a result of the sudden and unexplained departure.

Although there were persistent rumors that the state department had requested the ambassador's recall, these were unofficially denied here, while the Mexican foreign office said there was no foundation for them. Under Secretary Estrada at Mexico City said: "The foreign office does not know the source of such reports, which are considered without foundation. The foreign office has not received any such notification."

FORGER AND EMBEZZLER GETS PRISON SENTENCE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Convicted on two charges of forgery and one charge of embezzlement, J. Murray O'Brien, real estate man, was sentenced to three terms in the state penitentiary at Waupun by Judge George Shaughnessy in municipal court Thursday afternoon.

On the embezzlement conviction O'Brien was given one to ten years and the forgery charges drew terms of one to seven years each. The latter two sentences are to be served concurrently, the court ruled.

Testimony of five victims was introduced, indicating that they had lost a total of $36,000 in mortgage transactions with O'Brien. Called by the court and asked whether he had anything to say in his behalf O'Brien pleaded that he had not taken the cash from his clients with any thought of keeping it. Judge Shaughnessy denounced the prisoner severely and called him one of the worst kind of crooks to come before the court, who had taken the life savings of people.

SENATE CONFIRMS NEW REEDSVILLE POSTMASTER

Washington—(AP)—The nomination of L. A. Busee, as postmaster of Reedsville, was confirmed by the senate Thursday night.

Boys Find Gold--Village Prepares To Start Rush

Tonopah, Nev.—(AP)—With a rush across the desert in search of a bonanza in prospect, residents of Tonopah and the surrounding country kept within easy reach of their automobiles Friday in the hope that two boys, who said they had made the big strike, would give away the secret of its location momentarily.

Plans for the rush got under way Thursday when the two youths staggered into Tonopah under the weight of two sacks of gold ore which assayed $78,000 a ton.

WETTENGEL IS APPOINTED TO SUCCEED HIM

Federal Official Quits Job to Devote Entire Time to Other Business

William H. Zuehlke has resigned as postmaster here and Fred Felix Wettengel has been appointed acting postmaster pending the selection of a successor to Mr. Zuehlke, it was announced Friday morning in a dispatch from Washington, D. C. It is probable Mr. Wettengel will take charge of the local office about April 1.

Mr. Zuehlke resigned to devote his entire time to his work as treasurer of the Aid Association for Lutherans, which is owned by the association. Mr. Zuehlke has had the matter of resignation under consideration for several months. He said Friday morning that when his first term as postmaster expired he was not an announced candidate for reelection, in that he made no effort to secure the reappointment. He decided that if the appointment came to him without effort on his part he would accept it but would not make a campaign for it. He was reappointed on the strength of his first term record. In more recent months his duties as treasurer of the association became increasingly heavy and he decided to resign as postmaster and devote his time to his other work.

NAMED BY COOLIDGE
Mr. Wettengel selected for the appointment largely because of his record as a public spirited citizen, it was said. He was an ardent supporter of President Coolidge in the last campaign. The appointment as acting postmaster was made by the postmaster general at the suggestion of the president. He will hold the office until civil service examination can be held in the usual form and appointment made from the eligibles resulting from this examination. It is not probable that the appointment can be made until after congress convenes in August of 1928 and continued in that office until he resigned in the summer of 1919. Three years later he was appointed postmaster to succeed Gustav Keller and was reappointed for a four year term in July of 1926. Mr. Zuehlke is only man who has resigned as postmaster in Appleton. He has been treasurer of the Aid Association for Lutherans since its organization here in 1902.

RUSSIANS LAY CLAIM TO BODY OF RED LEADER

Chicago—(AP)—Plans have been made to take the ashes of Charles E. Ruthenberg, leader of American communists, who died Wednesday, to Moscow for a final resting place beneath the walls of the Kremlin with the remains of those who had prominent places in the Russian revolution, according to a telegram from the central executive committee at Moscow, received at the headquarters of the Workers party of America.

IMPEACHMENT IS FILED AGAINST JUDGE DEARTH

Indianapolis—(AP)—Articles of impeachment against Clarence W. Deearth, judge of the Delaware Circuit Court, were filed in the senate Friday by a board of managers of the house of representatives Judge Deearth was automatically suspended from office.

Chicago—(AP)—Plans have been made to take the ashes of Charles E. Ruthenberg, leader of American communists, who died Wednesday, to Moscow for a final resting place beneath the walls of the Kremlin with the remains of those who had prominent places in the Russian revolution, according to a telegram from the central executive committee at Moscow, received at the headquarters of the Workers party of America.

HOLD COED BANDIT IS SANE; MUST FACE TRIAL

Vermilion, S. D.—(AP)—There is no trace of mental disease in Marian Meyers, 19-year-old coed at the University of South Dakota, and she must stand trial on a charge of third degree burglary.

A report that she is sane was received Thursday night by County Judge Raymond Collin from the state institution for insane at Yankton. Judge Collin who was chairman of the Clay-co insane board said Miss Meyers would be brought here from Yankton to face trial at the March term of the circuit court which opens next Monday. She was arrested Feb. 2 in the first National bank of Vermilion, after attempting to break into the bank's vaults.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED AS SCHOONER BREAKS

Orleans, Mass.—(AP)—Breaking up of the Nova Scotia schooner Montclair Friday, just as a breeches buoy was transferring her crew to the shore, each the lives of two men and two others into a most precarious situation with bundles of hats, their only support. Two men were brought ashore in the breeches buoy before it collapsed.

ASSEMBLY PASSES BILL FOR LONG AND SHORT WEEK TERMS

Interim Committee Measure on Tuition Charges Also Is Approved

Madison—(AP)—After passing several bills, the state legislature Friday adjourned until Tuesday. The assembly passed three measures. One, by Assemblyman Schmidt, gave the interim committee, makes it imperative that the money value be stated in deeds of conveyance. Another, by Assemblyman Lawson, also for the interim committee, changes the method of a "re-estimate" of tuition in high school districts so that the tuition is determined by the number of students and the division of teachers' salaries and cost of manual training and domestic science classes.

The third bill, also proposed by the interim committee requires that a city school district or two or more school districts have an assessed valuation of at least $1,250,000 before a high school is established.

The assembly also passed the proposal of Assemblyman Ellenbecker for "long" and "short" weeks, alternating during the session. It was originally proposed that the assembly hold sessions on Saturday on the "long" weeks but as passed, the resolution will make that body meet on Mondays of alternate weeks.

KILL INGALLS RESOLUTION

The joint resolution by Assemblyman Ingalls, calling for sine die adjournment of the legislature on May 11, was killed in the senate. The senate bill by Gettleman, making it impossible for cities to force policemen to work more than eight out of 24 hours each day, especially applicable to Milwaukee, was passed by the senate.

Among the bills passed by the senate are:

A measure to create a state forest and game preserve in Oneida-co, in cooperation with the American legion of that locality. This bill was introduced by Senator Chase.

A bill by Senator Blanchard, allows payment of fire department dues by persons outside of department's usual territory, who wish the department's protection.

An appropriation of $1,500 for the state period of bar examiners for the special examination of candidates held recently. This bill was presented by the joint finance committee.

The assembly bill by E. A. Smith, abolishing the legislative visiting committee after July 1.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO U. IS DEAD

Chicago—(AP)—Harry Pratt Judson, former president of the University of Chicago died Friday. Dr. Judson's unexpected death was caused by heart disease. He retired as president of the University of Chicago in 1922.

DROP MANN ACT CHARGE AGAINST FRANK WRIGHT

Minneapolis—(AP)—Mann act charges against Frank Lloyd Wright, the architect, and Madame Olga Miloff, were dropped Friday by the federal government on the eve of their presentation to the grand jury.

JURY IS OUT FOR 70 HOURS IN FRAUD CASE

Buckner Nolle Prosses Indictment Against Former Attorney General

Federal Court, New York—(AP)—The jury in the Daugherty-Miller trial Friday found former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller guilty of conspiracy, but disagreed on a verdict for former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

Daugherty and Miller were charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of their honest and unbiased services in allowing claims for $7,000,000, proceeds of the sale of impounded American Metal Co. shares. The jury was out 70 hours.

The jury filed into the court room apparently weary by its long deliberations. The judge said, "I have received another note from you saying it is your unanimous opinion that in the case of one defendant you are hopeless of a verdict."

United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner, after the verdict on Miller and the disagreement on Daugherty, asked Judge Knox to nolle prosses the indictment against Daugherty.

MAXIMUM TERM 2 YEARS

The court complied. The maximum sentence in Miller's case is two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine. Aaron Caprio, Miller's counsel, said an appeal would be taken. Bail for Miller was continued at $5,000, pending sentence. Date of sentence will be arranged by counsel and Judge Knox.

Miller sat patiently when the verdict was read. The expression of his face did not change. Mrs. Miller, who sat beside him did not flinch. Later on, Miller said "I'll beat them yet."

NO THIRD TRIAL

Buckner then told the court he had tried the case twice and would not try it a third time. He asked a nolle prossis for Daugherty.

Judge Knox said he felt Buckner was justified in bringing Daugherty to trial as the evidence showed, and that he also was justified in asking for a nolle prossis.

Miller, a lieutenant colonel during the war, is the son of a former governor of Delaware. He was once secretary of state for Delaware and later a congressman from the same state. He was appointed alien property custodian by President Harding in April, 1921, shortly after Daugherty became attorney general.

After the indictment against him had been nolle prossed, Daugherty solemnly thanked the court and the jurors. He then left the court on the arm of his brother, Mal S. Daugherty, Washington Courthouse, Ohio, banker.

OFFICIALS ON STAND IN HURLEY CLEANUP

Government Makes Attempt to Padlock Two Saloons in District Court

Superior—(AP)—The police chief of Hurley, a policeman, under-sheriff and federal agents were used as government witnesses in the attempt being made in United States District court here to padlock two saloons in Hurley in a building owned by Joseph Rainier. The government late Thursday rested its case after Police Chief George Dubata testified to seeing Ralph De Massi and Hjalmer Mattson behind the bars in both resorts in their shirt sleeves.

Counsel for Rainier had prepared Friday to put several "surprise" witnesses on the stand to show that at the time De Massi and Mattson had installed bars in 17 and 19 Silver-st respectively, a contract had already been drawn up for the sale of building.

The illness of Rainier's wife at the time prevented the signing of the deed testimony brought out, Rainier's fight against the padlock, which has already been snapped on 28 resorts in the state 21 of which are at Hurley alone, is the first contested action brought in court here this term.

SHIFT TITUS QUARREL TO FLOOR OF SENATE

Madison—(AP)—Controversy in the personnel of the joint legislative finances committee shifted to the senate floor Friday where a joint resolution was introduced asking the upper house to take such action as would restore harmony.

The resolution was signed by ten recalcitrant members of the committee who have refused to attend meetings because of Senator William A. Titus' refusal to vacate the chairmanship. The controversy arose over the "found du Lac" senator's vote in removing James Borden as secretary of the board of public affairs. Senator Titus' signature however, was not on the resolution, nor was that of Assemblyman Lawson Walworth, who was not in the city.

Action on the resolution was postponed until Thursday when Senator W. L. Smith, Nellville, president pro tem, stated that he was not sure as to the proper procedure to be taken and asked that the matter be laid over until Henry A. Huber lieutenant governor, is present.

DEADLOCK IN SENATE BARS VOTE ON BILLS

Public Buildings, Deficiency and Alien Property Bills Fail Passage

REED RESOLUTION DIES Dawes Bitterly Assails Senate Rules and Renews Demand for Revision

Washington—(AP)—Another session of congress passed into history Friday to the accompaniment of a senate storm that swept into limbo some of the best laid plans of party leaders.

Chief among the administration bills to fail of passage was the $33,000,000 deficiency measure, carrying important money allotments for the army, for veterans loans and seed loans to farmers, and for pension increases.

REED COMMITTEE TO CONTINUE ACTIVITY, CHAIRMAN DECLARES

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The senate's failure to extend the life of the campaign funds committee will not deter Senator Reed of Missouri, the committee chairman, from going ahead with the campaign funds inquiry this summer. The senator said Friday afternoon that he expected to call the committee together as soon as possible to decide on a program of action.

When word of the Missouri's intentions reached Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, leader of the administration senators, who filibustered the resolution to death, he declared that any attempt to carry on the committee's work would meet with serious legal obstacles.

Also consigned to the wastebasket were the alien property bill, the postal rate revision bill, and the $19,000,000 appropriation to pay for the first year's work on the new public building program. But the failure of these projects was not without one other feature for administration senators. The favorites dragged down to defeat with them the proposal which had tied senate procedure in a knot in the closing hours of the session—the resolution of Reed of Missouri, to extend the life of his campaign fund investigation.

Blocked by a filibuster, the Reed resolution virtually had paralyzed the senate for three days, and as the adjournment hour of noon approached, almost frantic efforts to put the proposal aside long enough for passage of the deficiency bill and other pressing measures followed one another in rapid succession. As one after another failed senators worked themselves into a mood that betrayed itself in angry gatherings on the floor. Several times Vice President Dawes called upon the sergeant-at-arms to restore order.

STATE PRISONS ARE FACING CRISIS NOW, LEGISLATURE TOLD

State Board of Control Asks for Appropriation of $4,200,000

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin is now "facing a crisis with respect to its charitable, penal and correctional institutions. It is imperative that immediate action be taken to relieve the overcrowding and waiting lists and to physically equip the institutions so far as to care for the existing load of persons who should be cared for."

This was one of the statements made by John J. Hannan, president of the state board of control, in presenting needs of institutions under its management to the legislature. The facts in support of this statement were presented in detail to the committee on finance. Mr. Hannan said that:

"The prison is overcrowded. The prison appropriation was based upon a population of 750; the present population is 940.

"The reformatory appropriation was based upon a population of 500; during 1925 and 1926 there was an average daily population of 417, and at the present there are 457 in the reformatory."

"The appropriation for the industrial home for women was based on a population of 50; at present it has an inmate population of 92 adults and 10 babies."

"The appropriation of the industrial school for boys was based on an average of 350; it is now 359."

"The budget capacity of the state public school is 490; at present there are 424 in that institution; the school has been compelled to notify the judges of its inability to receive children; and more than 100 dependent and neglected children were refused admission."

"The board of control is asking for a building appropriation of $4,200,000," said Mr. Hannan, "and it is pointed out that this is an extraordinary large sum. It is an extraordinary large sum—but this board of control at the legislature and the ones that were before it, are not responsible. It expresses the minimum of the needs that should be provided by this legislature for these institutions. Since the 1915 session of the legislature the board continually presented its requests for appropriations and the amount of appropriations for building purposes that were actually made were $10,000,000 less than the requests. Two years ago a request was made for an appropriation of $3,500,000; and the appropriation that was made was $755,000. The time for temporizing with this situation is past. There will be no dividends to any one in finding fault or attempting to place the responsibility for this situation. The duty of the legislature, and the duty of the board of control is to face the facts of the situation and make proper provision now."

"The appropriation asked for does not meet the needs of the institutions; the needs of Wisconsin's social problem. It is merely a beginning and it is a step to repair the neglects or the omissions of former years."

BLAME PARENTS BECAUSE CHILDREN MISS SCHOOL

Parental negligence was the cause of failure to attend school in about 70 per cent of the 58 cases reported in February, according to J. G. Pfeil, truancy officer. There were 60 cases of parental negligence, ten of truancy and 16 of other causes. Girls predominated in the report for the month, for 50 failed to attend school whereas there were only 25 boys in the non-attendance class.

Two cases were taken into court in the month. Four pupils were returned to school. Mr. Pfeil made 29 calls at the schools and 29 other calls for various reasons. He notified two parents of violations of the law.

FAIRFIELD TO TEACH IN CALIFORNIA NEXT SUMMER

An appointment to teach at the summer session of the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, Calif., has been received by Prof. Otto P. Fairfield of the art department at Lawrence college. He will teach three courses.

Mr. Hargrave, 78, Was Bed-Ridden—Now Strong Again

Mr. A. Hargrave of Anna, Ill., says he was confined to his bed and room for five months and was told by the Doctor there was no chance for him. His report continues: "I was weak and very nervous, uncertain of my walk, could not stand erect, would stagger unless braced with a cane, slept only two hours at a time, tired out in the morning, could only walk a short distance before sitting down. Now, after taking six boxes of ARJUM, I feel much better, am satisfied with the sleep, I get seven to eight hours during the night. Nervousness nearly gone, walking and standing improved; in fact, remarkable for my recent years, and all due to ARJUM, which I hope will fall into the hands of all ailing persons, so that they may receive the same benefits as myself."

If you are a sufferer from prostate gland inflammation, kidney trouble, torpid liver, bladder weakness or high blood pressure, with a consequent lack of FORCE AND NERVE ENERGY, you owe it to yourself to at once acquire your system the marvelous restorative Radium power supplied in tiny tablet form by ARJUM. This produces a vitalizing, internal exercise which helps to renew proper, normal, youthful action, just as Nature intended.

A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. Lame back, rheumatic twinges and aches, dizziness, nervousness, and other distressing middle age ailments may readily become a thing of the past. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies drugs and chemicals, has been successful in its progressive use of money, re-fund, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARJUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggists such as Downer Drug Co., St. C. Lovell, T. A. Bell, etc.

BACHMAN DECIDES TO HOLD $100,000 OF COUNTY TAXES

Fred E. Bachman will withhold approximately $100,000 of the city's share of the county taxes when he makes the returns for the city to the county on March 22, he stated Thursday noon. "The council has advised me to hold this money and with that authorization I will hold it."

The city's share of the county tax is $305,195.40 of which amount $100,463.34 is claimed to be illegal. The treasurer will turn over $204,732.06 on March 22. The city's share of state special charges on the county, which will amount to approximately $13,000, will be turned over to the county on Saturday, according to Mr. Bachman.

32ND DIVISION IS HARDEST WORKED

National Guard Outfit Took Part in as Many Battles as 1st Division

Madison—The 32nd division was in the same number of battles as the 1st division and in more than any other American division in the World War, according to an article in the Infantry Journal, the official publication of the Infantry Association of the U. S. Army, reprinted in the March edition of the Wisconsin National Guard Review. That the 32nd was in more battles than the 2nd division (which contained the marines) will probably come as a surprise to many. As the article was written by a regular army officer it probably has more weight than though written by a national guardsman, and is the result of statistics obtained from the War Department. The article says in part:

"The hardest worked division was not the 1st nor the 2nd division, but a National Guard outfit, the 32nd which, after it started, was not given any time out, except to move to another part of the line. It is equally interesting to note that, in a study made by a board of officers in Washington recently which had for its purpose the analysis of the major operations into separate battles, the 32nd achieved the same number of battle honors as the 1st, and one more than those allotted to the 2nd."

The article gives the names of the various battles each National Guard

BUSINESS BOOMS AT CITY LIBRARY

February Circulation More Than 1,200 Greater Than Last Year

A gain in circulation of 1,236 volumes in February 1927 over the same month in 1926 was reported at the meeting of the library board Tuesday afternoon by Miss Florence C. Day, librarian. In the adult department 6,755 volumes were circulated in February, 1927, and 5,793 in 1926, making a gain of 962 volumes. In the juvenile department an increase of 224 volumes was shown. In February 1927 there were 4,474 books circulated and in 1926, 4,150.

One hundred seventy-six volumes were added during the month in both departments. At the beginning of the period there were 15,323 books in the adult, 6,093 in the children's department for a total of 21,416. One hundred fifteen volumes were added to the adult and 61 to the juvenile. No books were withdrawn.

There were 117 new registrants at the library. There were 8,135 borrowers registered at the beginning of the month, including 5,481 in the adult and 2,657 in the children's departments. Three persons were transferred from the juvenile to the adult department and 25 borrowers registered in the adult and 52 in the juvenile. One hundred twenty-six registrations were cancelled, leaving a total registration of 5,492 adults and 2,670 children. There are 517 borrowers living outside of the city limits in the county and 21 outside of the county.

Fiction led in circulation with a total of 7,017 volumes. Of these 4,469 were for adults and 2,548 children. In the non-fiction books, 1,935 adults, 1,907 juvenile volumes were circulated. There were 198 unbound periodicals loaned and 172 foreign books. This makes a total circulation of 6,755 adult books, 4,474 children's and 11,229 total.

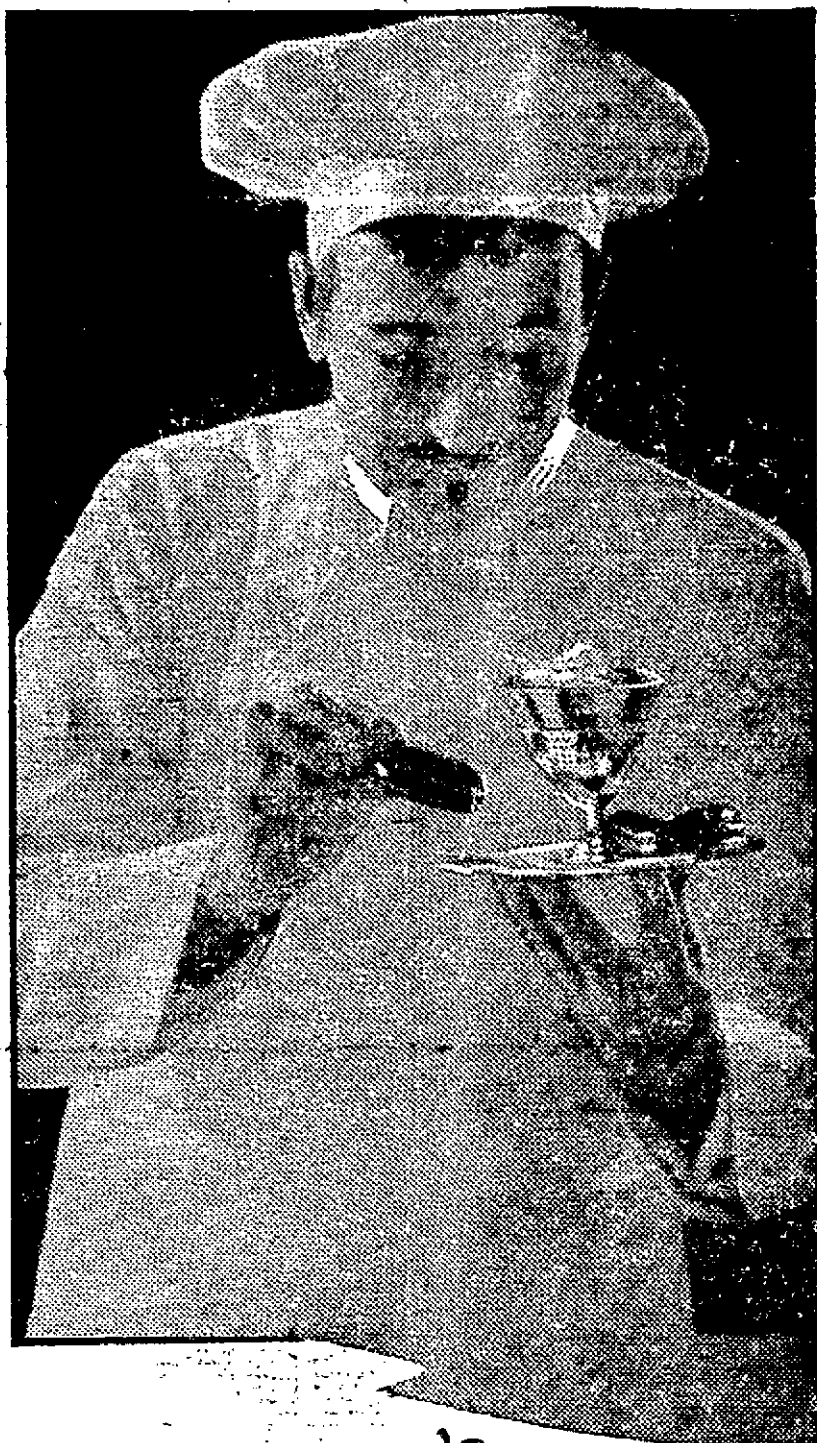

Study clubs were the largest subscribers in the study reference department. Twenty-eight questions were answered for this group, 17 for students, three for teachers and 39 for the general public.

The division participated in. In all there were 32 American divisions in France, the 32nd being the fifth to cross. This, together with the showing made by the division in France, shows the war efficiency of the Wisconsin National Guard.

CHICAGO NURSE TALKS AT MEETING IN NEENAH

Miss Edna Foley, superintendent of the Visiting Nurses association in Chicago, and well known in public health nursing in the middle west, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Sixth District Nurses association at Neenah on Wednesday afternoon March 9, according to an announcement made by Miss Mary E. SPIRITUAL LIFE LAGGING BEHIND GENERAL PROGRESS

Schools Have Opportunity to Pull People Out of Morass,
Keller Says

America's spiritual advancement has not kept pace with the general progress of the country and this fact probably would result in our downfall were it not that the schools, provide a means of educating the creature which would tear down the work of a century and a half, Attorney L. H. Keller said in an address on Progress before rural school supervisors Thursday evening at Conway hotel. He pointed to the condition of the church, the school, and the press as proof of his contention.

Less than one-half the population of the country attends church today," he said. "I do not mean by this that less than one-half the population does not believe in God, but it does not think about Him to perform this duty."

When Washington and Jefferson were leading figures in the country, approximately 90 per cent of the people were regular church goers.

EDUCATION FAILING
"We have better school buildings today than we did 150 years ago, and many times more money is spent on them. More highly qualified teachers are demanded of teachers, and more minute attention is given to various topics. Yet education is failing somewhere."

The press also brings out the attitude of the time. Newspapers are filled with scandal, crime, and lot, all that human kind is or to be. The public is reading mostly trash, cheap magazines as well as yellow newspapers. What do you think of a country like this?

A great scientist, perhaps the discoverer of a germ which meant the saving of thousands of lives, died in poverty. What a contrast to attention and worship paid a man like Jack Dempsey, to whom the public will pay a million dollars to watch his performance in a ring for about 30 minutes. Is that intellectual advancement?

Answering his own question as to whether people have progressed since the time of Washington and Franklin, he said they haven't the intellectual ability today that they had 150 years ago, despite the many inventions which have taken place during this period.

SPIRITUAL DECAY
He believed that Washington and Franklin probably would be wonder-struck for a time at the improvements achieved in the last century, but added that they would get over the shock and wonder about the spiritual decay of the country.

Modern inventions make no difference, in spite of their speed, if you can't accomplish something more in the extra time you are allotted, he pointed out. What matter speed if you don't make use of it?

He scored the spirit of intolerance which appears to have taken hold of the present age.

"The opinion of others should be respected," he said. "Even if you cannot conform to another's view, you should have the broadness and patience to listen. Liberty and intolerance cannot go together. If the present spirit of intolerance continues, some dreadful calamity is certain to strike this country."

Mr. Keller does not believe that the people of today are fundamentally vicious. When occasion demands they can rally to a cause now just as they did in the time of Washington and Franklin, he reminded. This was proven in the World War.

HITS MATERIALISM
"Parents have lost much of their control over children," he said. "The country cannot continue to prosper indefinitely if such a condition continues. The home is the bulwark of the nation, and the strength of the nation will be reflected in the strength of the home. The spirit of materialism must be cut out of the home."

"People are traveling at too high a speed. With the automobile and municipal organizations, everybody is either out riding in their cars or are at

REFERENDUM IS AGAINST BASIS LAW, SOLON SAYS

Madison—(AP)—Although the initiative and referendum bill may pass the senate, receive the governor's approval and a majority vote of the people, it is unconstitutional according to the present statutes, Senator Markham, Holican, told the Associated Press Friday.

"Apparently no one has ever discovered that the bill which has already passed the assembly would undoubtedly be nullified if the opinion of the supreme court was asked," Senator Markham said.

"Article 12 of the Wisconsin constitution provides that it is more than one amendment to the constitution he submitted they shall be submitted in such manner that the people would be able to vote for or against such amendments separately."

"The resolution providing for submission of the initiative and referendum to the people includes three separate amendments. First, there is the initiative, second the referendum, and last, that amendment to article 12 providing for a change in the method of amending the constitution."

"I have looked this up, naturally, because I am against the passage of this bill. The power to amend is the power to amend and this is not even a progressive measure separately."

The initiative and referendum bill was introduced in 1923 by the present lieutenant governor, H. A. Huber. The lieutenant governor is still sponsoring the bill as a "right of the people to hold a check over the actions of the legislature."

The municipal issue or the municipal that. They are everywhere but home. "I sincerely believe, however, that the influence from the schools will help keep the home safe. With this task in mind, you will appreciate the responsibility which rests on the shoulders of our teachers."

The banquet at the hotel Thursday evening was the close of the program for the first day of the two-day spring meeting which rural school supervisors and teachers of northeastern Wisconsin are holding in Appleton.

The day was spent at the Outagamie Rural Normal school where class room procedure was observed. Friday was spent at the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent, discussing final examination questions. Arthur Colar and Miss Nellie McDermott, supervising teachers of Outagamie-co, prepared the program.

Other speakers Thursday evening were Mr. Meating, W. P. Hagman, principal Outagamie Rural Normal school, Kaukauna, and Robert A. Anderson, county agent.

NEW POLICE SIGNAL SYSTEM TO BE READY BY SATURDAY NIGHT

Demonstration Will Be Given to Members of Police, Fire Commission

Installation of the new police signal system was being completed Friday and will be put into operation Saturday night, Police Chief George T. Prim reported Friday morning.

A demonstration will be given the police and fire commission Saturday night.

After Saturday night, patrolmen will report to headquarters over the signal system. The former practice of calling the police station from anywhere along a beat will be abandoned.

The signal system will increase considerably the efficiency of the department, according to Chief Prim. Not only will patrolmen have to report from their call boxes at specified times, but they will be in closer contact with headquarters at all times.

Twelve call boxes, 11 of which have been installed, are located at various points throughout the city, giving thorough police coverage to every district in Appleton. The call box at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st will be erected as soon as the pedestal on which it will be suspended is received.

The other call boxes are located at the following street intersections: W. College-ave and Story-st; S. Cherry-st and W. Prospect-ave; S. Mason-st and W. Prospect-ave; N. Richmond-st and W. Wisconsin-ave; Atlantic-st and N. Oneida-st; E. Hancock and N. Lave-st; S. John-st and E. Walter-ave; S. Jackson and E. Fremont-st; E. College-ave and N. Lave-st. A box also is located on S. Island-st in front of the Valley Iron Works.

When a patrolman wishes to call headquarters, he unlocks the box and pulls down a lever inside. This action records the time of the call to the hour and minute, as well as the date, and the number of the box, on a paper tape in the control board at headquarters. While this data is being recorded, a buzzer informs the desk sergeant that an officer is calling, and he picks up the telephone receiver. If the sergeant wishes to recall policeman he may do so with a buzzer attached to the call box.

In case an officer has a prisoner and cannot open the call box, he can call headquarters by inserting a key in the box door. If he wants the patrol wagon in a hurry, he merely pushes a button. This signal is registered on the tape, rings a bell, and flashes small lights on the control board in headquarters.

"When the desk sergeant wants to talk to a patrolman in any section of the city, he can do so by two methods. Suspended high upon the pole holding the call box is a red light and a bell. Flushing the light or ringing the bell notifies the officer that headquarters wants him. The light and bell are controlled at headquarters. The bell is preferred for use in day time, and the light is preferred at night."

The city purchased the system several months ago at a cost of approximately $13,000. Its installation was started a few weeks ago.

In 1923, the world's production of artificial silk was 7,500 tons. The estimated output for 1926 was 100,000 tons.

Build Strength In Place of Weakness

Perhaps you are one of many who are convalescing after a troublesome cold or cough or possibly grippe and find that your strength is at rather low ebb.

At such times it is all-important that you be well-nourished, and nothing quite equals pure, emulsified cod-liver oil to help build strength in place of weakness.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE VITAMIN-TESTED COD-LIVER OIL

is the effective means that thousands use daily to help re-establish health and vigor. Containing as it does a wealth of health-promoting cod-liver oil vitamins it is the very help the weakened body needs.

If you are convalescing from a cold, cough, grippe or other respiratory infection—we strongly recommend the regular use of Scott's Emulsion for at least thirty days.

14 STUDENTS GET
TYPING REWARDSTypewriter Companies Reward High School Pupils
for Proficiency

Menasha—Fourteen students of the commercial department of Menasha high school have just received typing awards from the Underwood and Remington companies for the February term.

Floyd Longworth made the highest record in the Remington test, receiving a gold pin. Other Remington awards were silver pins to Hillard, Frances, Lucille Dombek and Mildred Alger. Certificates were awarded to Edna Gutche and Cyril Rabe.

The Underwood awards were: Silver pins to Maureen Remmel and Hillard, Frances; bronze pins to Dorothy Curs, Frances, John Suchodolski, Marion Weigler and Dorothy Stelow. Certificates were awarded to three evening school students.

The shorthand honor roll for February consists of Florence Funk, Rufus Garrow, Dan Raleigh, E. A. Heid, Edna Hercher, Elmer Christensen, Dorothy Rosenow, Gerald Ste, Marie, Henry Kresbeck, Lorraine Kechrich, Irena Schepke, Lillian Loe, Florence Wandt, Cecelia Terrien, Doris Jape, Verna Fahrbach, Lauretta Stein, Virginia Kneelke.

Two letters sent out by the White-water state normal school were dictated to the junior class. Students transcribing without error were placed on the honor roll. A one minute letter was dictated at the rate of 40 words a minute and a three minute letter at the rate of 50.

Fifteen seniors transcribed letters dictated at the rate of 60 words for three minutes with two or less errors. Four students transcribed both letters without error. The seniors making the honor roll were Marian Weigler, Marie Wilfing, Floyd Longworth and Lillian Taggart.

In the bookkeeping tests, out of a possible 100 items, Marie Wilfing made 97, giving her first place, and Helen Christensen and Elmer Bredinski made 93 and 92 respectively.

ROUNDERS GET IN FIRST
BASEBALL CHALLENGE

Menasha—Walter Adams, manager of the Menasha Rounders baseball team of Menasha has the distinction of having hurled the first challenge of the season. He has notified Oshkosh baseball managers that his team challenge any team in Oshkosh or surrounding cities.

The Rounders are widely known throughout Fox River valley for the games they have won. For the last two seasons the aggregation has hung up impressive records and will have practically the same lineup to take the field for this coming season. The Rounders schedule is now being drawn up.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMAN IN FIRST WARD

Menasha—With the issuance of nomination papers for alderman in the first ward by City Clerk John J. Johnson, Jr., to J. J. Johnson, 294 Main-st., a three-cornered race for alderman has developed in that ward. The incumbent is Anton Brzezinski and the other candidate is Peter Novak.

MODE RESIGNS FROM FIRE DEPARTMENT

Menasha—Frank Modl, a member of Menasha volunteer fire department, has presented his resignation to Chief Paul Theimer. Mr. Modl has seen 27 years service and was one of the pioneer members of the department. His successor has not yet been appointed.

PARENTS EXCITED WHEN BABY WANDERS AWAY

Menasha—A 2-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. McDaniel, Cleveland-st., disappeared from home Wednesday afternoon and for several hours considerable anxiety was felt for her safety. She was finally located at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kuester, N. Commercial-st., where she had wandered with her doll and doll buggy.

BARBERS MEETING

Menasha—Twin Lakes Barbers' union, local 921, will hold a monthly meeting Monday evening, March 7, at John Herziger's shop, corner of Forest-ave and N. Commercial-st. Routine business will be considered.

MOVES TO MENASHA

Menasha—A. L. Koch has moved into his optical store at 194 Main-st. His offices are located in the rear. Mr. Koch's offices were formerly on the second floor of the Tuchscherscher block. Miss Margaret Mackin is his assistant.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Current events was the general topic of the meeting of the Economic club Friday afternoon at the public library building. The round table was led by Mrs. John Strange, Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. P. Pankratz, Mrs. Moe Johnson. The hostesses were Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. A. N. Strange.

The Knights of Columbus initiated several candidates at their meeting Thursday evening when followed by their business session. Mr. Martin of Dunette, who was a guest of E. H. Hat, of Neenah, gave a brief talk.

Miss N. H. Hestler and Mr. W. A. Hestler will be the hosts at the W. A. Hestler club of Thursday afternoon. The club will be held at the Hestler home.

Mr. H. D. Ross and Mrs. W.

RESTAURANT OWNER LOCKED UP IN JAIL.
Arrested for Selling Liquor
After Raid by Prohibition
Force

Menasha—Peter Morat, owner of the American restaurant at 555 Taylor-st., was arrested in municipal court at Oshkosh Friday morning charged with selling and possessing intoxicating liquor in his place of business. At the conclusion of his preliminary examination his trial was set for 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

March 10. His bail was fixed $1,000 which he was unable to furnish and he was committed to the county jail. The evidence which landed Morat in jail was secured several days ago by one of the sheriff's assistants. The arrest was made Thursday afternoon by the sheriff. When arrested previously Morat paid a fine of $500.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Fair tonight; warmer in east and south portion; Saturday increasing cloudiness; warmer in southeast portion.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
High pressure still over the central states, with fair weather, and from the Missouri valley eastward. Somewhat lower temperatures over the Canadian northwest, with considerable cloudiness and with temperatures above normal. Low pressure is developing in the intermountain region, with some rain and moderate temperatures. This may cross the mountains and move eastward. Further development of these conditions is expected to cause a slow increase of cloudiness in this section tonight and Saturday.

The eruption of the Hawaiian volcano Mauna Loa, in April, released 16,000,000 tons of Lava.

MRS. SCHMEREIN HEAD OF WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE

Neenah—Mrs. John Schmerein was elected president of the Neenah branch of the League of Women Voters at a meeting Thursday afternoon at the public library. Mrs. I. E. Ozanne was elected first vice president; Mrs. L. J. Pinkerton, second vice president; Mrs. George Williamson, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Schmeier, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles McEathron, corresponding secretary. The election in April was discussed and reports were heard from Mrs. J. F. Gillingham as member of the board of education, and Mrs. F. Eshop as city poor commissioner, concerning their work with the city. It was decided to hold an all-day citizenship school in May.

MASON SEND DE MOLAY
TEAM TO TOURNAMENT

Neenah—Masonic lodges of Neenah and Menasha are arranging to send the DeMolay basketball team to the annual state DeMolay tournament which will be held March 17, 19 and 19 in Madison. The team will be equipped with a new outfit. The seven men to be selected by Edgar Jones, manager, will play in the tournament.

DON'T EXPECT SPRING FLOODS IN FOX RIVER

The water level in the Fox river at the present time is normal, according to E. F. Everett, United States engineer, and a heavy spring flood is not expected. In spite of the heavy snow fall during the winter, water from this melting snow soaked into the ground and much of it never reached the river. While it is possible that more snow might be experienced in March, government officials are looking for a mild spring rise in the water level.

VOICE OF IDEALISM IS UTTERLY SILENT OVER WAR MATTERS

Hard-boiled Frame of Mind
Replaces Former Idealistic
Attitude

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington — Here is Washington, where men live to govern the nation, the matter of avoiding war and doing things to eliminate it is given a comparatively infinitesimal amount of attention.

President Coolidge declares against construction of three new cruisers and the Senate goes right ahead and votes appropriations for them. Such a piece of legislation as that, of course, concerns adequate national defense rather than a general apathetic attitude toward insurance of world peace.

The apathy, however, becomes more clearly demonstrated when President Coolidge asks for an extension of arms limitation which would extend the 5-5-3 ratio to cruisers, destroyers and submarines, which nearly everyone has been building according to the desires of their hearts.

This proposal, made in a presidential message to Congress, seemed nowhere to be considered purely from the peace-seeking viewpoint. Some referred to it as a "good thing," but the idealism that flamed for a while with Wilson has been replaced by a hard-boiled frame of mind which permits no spontaneous awakening of humanitarian interest.

On the same afternoon of delivery of the message, officials and members of the Congress began to figure out the political effect of the president's move. All hands immediately began to speculate as to the president's motives in terms of practical domestic politics. All sorts of theories were advanced.

Nowhere did anyone jump to his feet and raise the flag of idealism. It is only on the rarest occasions here that one hears of idealism any more. One idea was that Mr. Coolidge sought to force Congress to do his will and defeat the cruiser amendment to the appropriation bill—that he had accepted the cruiser question as a political issue.

It was suggested that Mr. Coolidge hoped to nip the budding presidential boom of Speaker Nicholas Longworth. Longworth had fought for the cruisers in the House and only the night before had made a hot speech demanding more battleships.

Or wasn't it that Mr. Coolidge sought to stretch all the talk against a third presidential term? Didn't it mean that Mr. Coolidge was serving notice on the country that he wanted that "third term"?

The next theory was that Mr. Coolidge sought a "mattress to land upon" following his expected veto of the McNary-Hughes bill. With a big issue like disarmament, might he not expect to modify the curses of the farm bloc and its constituents and maintain his position as the most likely candidate to succeed himself?

Or was it merely that he realized his foreign policy was rather in need of bolstering and sought by a single coup to reestablish prestige lost at home and abroad in recent months?

It had become more or less apparent during the Mexican and Nicaraguan embrosos that the mass of the people were for peace rather than war. Would not this strong stand for naval disarmament carry an effective appeal to the mass of the people?

Thus the speculation ran. The voice of idealism was utterly silent.

WATER DEPARTMENT REVENUE INCREASES

Receipts for January Total
$11,183, Compared With $10,835

The operating revenue of the water commission for January was $11,183.93 which is an increase of $347.63 over the same month in 1926 when receipts of $10,835.36 were received, according to the monthly report of A. J. Hall, superintendent and bacteriologist. The bacteria removal efficiency of the plant for the month was 99.5.

Last year in January the operating expenses were $6,329.07 giving a profit of $4,456.26. This is an increase of $34.93 over the profits for the same month last year.

A total of 54,650,000 gallons of water was pumped in January which is an increase of more than 7,000,000 over the same month the preceding year when 47,570,000 gallons were pumped. The average daily pumpage for January was 2,455,000 gallons which is an increase of about 300,000 gallons over January, 1926, when the average daily pumpage was 2,175,000 gallons, according to the monthly report of A. J. Hall, superintendent and bacteriologist. The bacteria removal efficiency of the plant for the month was 99.5.

EMPLOYERS ANSWERING EMPLOYMENT QUESTIONS

Many employers are answering the recent questionnaire issued by the Junior Placement bureau of Appleton Vocational school regarding the prospects for junior employment during the coming summer. The questionnaires were sent to all the larger manufacturing plants and the employers were asked to list the number of boys or girls they expect to hire and about when they would need them.

COLLEGE AUTO BAN

The action of Princeton University and of other universities and colleges, in promulgating a ban on student owned and driven automobiles at first seems a dictatorial step. Yet further analysis tends to destroy that first conclusion and in the end we must grant that the college authorities have founded their ruling on very sensible grounds and on facts that seem indisputable.

"Our statistics show," says Dean Christian Gauss of Princeton, "that the record of automobile owners for scholarship, for attendance and for conduct is below the general average of the college. It would seem unfair that this small and not altogether minority should repeatedly bring the college into unhappy notoriety."

Dean Gauss was here referring to a number of serious accidents that have occurred of late. During the academic year of 1926 five Princeton undergraduates were killed in automobile accidents—and the deaths of two others not connected with the university were caused by student driven cars in the neighborhood.

It, of course, is a drastic thing to say that a student may not own or drive a car, yet there can be no charge that it is a curtailment of personal liberty for it is a thing that is not forced upon the students. If they do not wish to adhere to the regulations they may quit the college. They are not told that they cannot own a car and be a Princeton student at one and the same time.

It is not hard to see that this will result in a higher standard of scholarship. With the temptation for cutting classes and omitting study in favor of the open road removed to a great extent, perhaps more time will be given to the college curriculum, which, by the way, is the first and very nearly the only excuse for the existence of a college. In the matter of morals, the student too will be better off if deprived of a joy-riding vehicle.

BRITAIN IN NICARAGUA

With characteristic American spontaneity we became very much excited when we found that Great Britain had sent a cruiser to Nicaraguan waters. "Where," we asked, with considerable heat but less good judgment, "is the Monroe Doctrine?" What does Great Britain mean with such a high handed proceeding? Congress should pass a law—The president should send a message—and so on and so on, ad nauseum.

It is one of our most predominant traits, this becoming terribly excited over the wrong thing and then, with lazy indolence, passing things by that are really important. We strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. At times it is downright amusing. Certainly it is an indication that our reactions are more from a bad digestion and a superheated imagination than they are from calm, deliberate judgment, based on fact.

Will we never get over the "chip on the shoulder" attitude that takes easy offense? Intelligent people must some day realize that it is an attitude based on false pride. We flare up at the least thing and give an impression of instability.

The sending of a cruiser to Nicaraguan Waters by Great Britain is a matter-of-fact proceeding, in line with traditional British policy. It cannot be construed as an interference with the scope of the Monroe doctrine by anyone who really understands that dictum. This warship is not going to occupy territory in the western hemisphere. It is merely going to stand by as a place of refuge for British subjects and to cooperate with American forces in Nicaraguan waters toward the protection of all foreigners who might be endangered by the internal situation in the Central American republic. Most of the trouble in this world never happens—it just exists in the imagination.

A HISTORY OF WASHINGTON

Compilation of a complete and authentic history of the life of George Washington, to be approved by recognized historical authorities, has been decided upon as the first step looking toward the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of America's first president, which will be held in 1932. The plan for such a work has been made public by William Tyler Page, clerk of the house and secretary of the George Washington Bicentennial commission, and it contemplates a history divided into three sections, as follows:

Reference lists of books on the life of Washington; complete history of the years of his life, 1732-1799; geographical history designed to associate Washington's name more closely with various localities and undertakings. Each of these sections will be approved by representatives of American historical societies at a meeting to be arranged later.

It is an ambitious project and one which will be well supported. Lately the "moderns" have done so much to wreck our concept of the Father of His Country that we hope for authentic enlightenment on many of the moot points. Compilation of such a great work would automatically set at rest many controversies and furnish us with a composite picture of this great American, unclouded by doubt and column raised by flyspeck writers.

No man has ever been perfect. As far as we know, no man ever will be perfect. Each one of us has his good points and his bad points. Too often the quotation, "The evil men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones," is true. We fail to balance the good and bad dispassionately. We are either enthusiasts or we are cynics. We have been taught that Washington was nearly a saint. Let us discard this false conception, but do not let us go to the other extreme and magnify his faults.

PROSPERITY AND WEATHER.

Business and industrial prosperity depend on the weather.

Barring big localized catastrophes like earthquakes or hurricanes, this might seem farfetched. But Dr. Ellsworth Huntington, of Yale University, doesn't think so. He says that one of the things economists must do before they can arrive at an understanding of why business progresses in cycles is study very carefully the effect of the weather on prosperity.

Variations in the strength of the sun's radiation, such as are caused by sun spots, have a very intimate connection with the weather. An extended period of bad weather brings hard times for farmers. Hard times for farmers means that fewer goods like automobiles, radios, furniture and so on can be sold. Thus sun spots have a very direct effect on prosperity.

Dr. Huntington goes farther. He shows that each of the four "panics" which occurred in the United States during the nineteenth century was immediately preceded by long drought.

He goes on to show that a sudden hot spell in June, 1925, caused the number of deaths to be between 15,000 and 16,000 larger than usual. Figuring each life at a value of $7,000, he points out that that hot spell cost the United States around $100,000,000. Figuring in the same way, the cold spell in March and early April of last year, which boosted the death rate by 75,000, cost the nation about $500,000,000.

Dr. Huntington is careful not to jump to conclusions. But it's hard not to agree with him that a study of the connection between weather conditions and prosperity is worth while.

OLD MASTERS

When do I see thee most, beloved one?
When in the light the spirit of mine eyes
Before thy face, their altar, solemnize
The worship of that Love through thee made known?

Or when in the dusk hours (we two alone),
Close-kissed and eloquent of still replies
Thy twilight-hidden glimmering visage lies,
And my soul only sees thy soul's own?
O love, my love! if I no more should see
Thyself, nor on the earth the shadow of thee,
Nor image of thine eyes in any spring,
How then should sound upon life's darkening slope
The ground-whirl of the perished leaves of hope,
The word of death's impervious wing?
—Dante Gabriel Rossetti: from "The House of Life."

COLLEGE LIFE

Seventeen universities have banned students' automobiles as detrimental to morals. After the students have been driving half the night, it seems they couldn't be driven to work. . . . When some of the boys ended their university careers the automobile was the only engineering they knew. . . . A fellow who had tried all evening to find a girl who rode in a flapper wouldn't be interested in what more experiments the next day. . . . The student who drove a car had four punctures and a leak in the gas tank refused to be bothered with economics. . . . The young man with the Kell-Royce couldn't get worked up over sociology when he spent all his time declining invitations from people to ride in his car.

"Greatest Gift from Duty," says a headline. But duty seems to stick to the tip of the tongue.

The United States has made rules for Nicaragua, but hasn't bothered to bother the revolting Chinese a bit.

TO TELL, OR NOT TO TELL

Among the eight or nine dissenting voices in the referendum on the question of teaching children the truth about human life and reproduction, three were anonymous, although in this referendum there were more than three thousand answers from people who signed their names. One of the anonymous dissenters writes:

"Can I beg you to discontinue this? The world already knows too much and thinks too much on this question. Help your readers and help youth to forget they are so nearly of kin to the animal! In the name of clean womanhood and innocent youth stop putting this curse of the day in still another form before the public! A mother of five fine boys. Show this to me—and any others in authority. I do not wish to stop your paper as we have grown to like it through 12 years reading. I did not show the letter to the gentleman mentioned, because it is anonymous and why embarrass a gentleman with such a thing? However, this good woman seems to fall into a common error. She considers biology as much a 'curse of the day' as she does the filthy and the latest science, or she does the pandering of the risqué magazines. In taking that attitude she is at least not without company. The very word 'sex,' the phrase 'sex hygiene,' connotes something nasty or rotten to a great many people who give passive support to the conspiracy of silence. That is why I endeavor to find another term to serve as above, in lieu of this abused word. Teaching children the truth about human life and its reproduction is a cumbersome way of expressing the idea, but it is not so readily misunderstood. The second anonymous dissenting opinion is written with a lead pencil and one word is impossible to decipher, but I think was intended to be despondent:

"Cheer up and do not be so despondent—something or other—if we mothers do not seem as much interested in SEX as you are, try another subject for a change. I assure you it will be more interesting to the general public."

This woman, if the person is a woman, harbors the same notion about sex. She, not I, wrote it in capital letters and underscored the word for emphasis.

The third anonymous opinion is that: "When the time is ripe for a child's brain to grasp the ideas they will come to parents and ask, and then, and not until then they should be told."

This would be ideal, to be sure, but unfortunately, as many scores of voters in this referendum have testified, children generally pick up outside information or misinformation long before parents think it time for children to ask questions. In rare isolated instances it would be well enough to pursue this passive policy—several voters in the referendum assured me that they received their first knowledge of this subject from their parents.

Not long ago I commented here upon the comparatively few fathers who seek any help or suggestions from me for the instruction of children. This general referendum on the question about eight hundred of the 3,000 votes were from boys or men, and many of these are fathers. One very fine letter came from a young woman who has told how her first and only instruction came from her father, a doctor, and how her father began teaching her the truth when she was 8 or 9 years old and he has done so to focus all her attention on the end of a great love story, sketching in the beginnings of it in retrospective narrative, mere stray hints here and there, in which the bare skeleton of what started the action is given to the reader.

It is not to be denied that the end of this particular great love story is the essential tragedy; in other words, it is the story of a woman who wished to tell, she had no desire to tell a typical love story. Quite the reverse, she set out to ask what sometimes happens to a great love story such as many novelists portray. After the morbid is through with his lovers who love in the grand manner, what becomes of them? How do they feel about it 20 years later, 30 years later, 40 years later?

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

THE END OF A GREAT LOVE STORY

"My Moral Enemy," by Willa Cather, is slight in physical bulk but it is not at all slight in content. It is only a little longer than the average short-story and it can be read in a single hour without crowding but it is a complete story of a girl's life, from young girlhood to old age and death.

In other words, it's the kind of story that ordinarily would require perhaps 400 or 500 pages. Willa Cather has compressed it into some 20,000 words. In a magazine it would not be more than a two-part story, while it is even conceivable that some magazines might put it in one installment.

I have been asking myself why such great compression. Of course, compression is always desirable; provided it is not done at the expense of the sense of fullness of the life described. A writer who can tell a story adequately in a hundred pages is a poor artist if he stretches it to 300. Cather has compressed it into some 20,000 words. In a magazine it would not be more than a two-part story, while it is even conceivable that some magazines might put it in one installment.

But I am not convinced that "My Moral Enemy" would not have been a greater book if Willa Cather had made it a full-length novel. What she has done is to focus all her attention on the end of a great love story, sketching in the beginnings of it in retrospective narrative, mere stray hints here and there, in which the bare skeleton of what started the action is given to the reader.

It is not to be denied that the end of this particular great love story is the essential tragedy; in other words, it is the story of a woman who wished to tell, she had no desire to tell a typical love story. Quite the reverse, she set out to ask what sometimes happens to a great love story such as many novelists portray.

After the morbid is through with his lovers who love in the grand manner, what becomes of them? How do they feel about it 20 years later, 30 years later, 40 years later?

Willa Cather wanted to answer these questions in the case of at least one man and one woman who in their passionate youth considered the world well lost for love. The woman gave up a great fortune to marry the man she loved. In conventional fiction the assumption would be that she was happy and that love made up for her sacrifices.

In Willa Cather's book it turns out quite differently. The first time we see Myra Driscoll about 15 years after her marriage she is discontented with her bargain. One side of her nature, the generous side that caused her to renounce a great fortune for love, is still struggling to keep alive; the other side, the calculating, scheming, ambitious side, looks on with discontented eyes and converts life into hell. And at the end of the book we see her still fighting for the generous impulses of her youth, but her own nature, her mortal enemy, destroying her and converting the end of her great love story into a tragedy.

A great theme, and Willa Cather invariably gives distinction to anything she touches. But I am not satisfied that the form she gave to the story was inevitable, that it was the one best way of telling the story. Suppose she had written a full-length novel, would not the tragedy have been heightened?

The sketchiness of the love story itself makes it seem more trivial to me at least, than it actually was. And the wreck of a trivial love story is not nearly as tragic as the disaster that comes to a great one. If the author had carefully built up a structure of narrative as full as the love story of Myra Driscoll and Oswald Henshaw was of epic proportions, would she not have heightened the tragedy and would not the denouement have given a greater sense of epic bigness?

It is useless to quarrel with an author for not having done something else and perhaps there are good reasons for the compression of "My Moral Enemy." But when some reviewers say it is the inevitable form of the story, as they did also on the case of "A Lost Lady," I fail to see what their reasons are.

DOGS RIDE ON CREDIT IN CHICAGO TAXICABS

Chicago.—(P)—A straggly dog's credit is always good for a taxicab ride in Chicago.

Whenever a homeless pup is found wandering around the city, cab drivers are authorized to pick it up and take it to the home of the Anti-Cruelty society, which will pay the taxi bill.

Several score of friendless and hungry dogs are taken to the city year to the house, most of them covered by kindly folk and committed to a taxi driver to be taken to the humane headquarters. But most of the dogs, drivers say, like the cabs so well they hesitate to leave them even for a permanent home.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

THE BIRD THAT SAVED A STATE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n
It flew across the Atlantic before man accomplished the feat, this little gray and white bird, with black and bill of yellow and red.

It followed in the wake of a ship from the coast of Ireland to the State of Liberty, feeding on food plucked from the sea and resting, when tired, on the waves. This was no special feat for the gull, as it migrates enormous distances, its homing instinct carrying it unerringly home, though thousands of miles away.

There are about 30 species of gulls, from diminutive ones the size of a pigeon to big fellows as heavy as a goose. The herring gull is the most common along the Atlantic.

It is sociable, noisy and shrewd. The eggs are edible and as the birds nest in colonies, thousands and even millions, these nests are often raided, which has caused the disappearance of gulls from large areas.

Gulls have a way of getting what they go after. They have learned to crack the shells of clams, of which they are fond, by flying to a considerable height and dropping the clam upon the rocks. They persist even though the process has to be repeated sometimes a dozen times before the shell is smashed.

The state of Utah erected a monument to the gulls in gratitude for their coming to the rescue in 1860 and gobbling up the grasshoppers which for three years had ravaged that state and their depredations even threatening the very lives of the settlers.

The Question Box

Q. How many of the farmers' co-operative associations are incorporated? D. Y. D.

A. There are about 12,000 listed. Of these 50 per cent or 9,000, are incorporated.

Q. How many flying cadets were killed last year? H. H. A.

A. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, there were no flying cadets killed in airplane accidents while in training. There was one student officer killed in an airplane accident in training during this period.

Q. What is the difference between an ordinary survey and a geodetic survey? F. W.

A. A geodetic survey is one which covers large areas and takes into account the fact that the earth has a curved surface. It is usually called a "control" survey because it furnishes geographic position and other data for more detailed local surveys. In ordinary surveying, the earth's curvature is ignored and points of equal elevation above sea level are treated as being plane. This is satisfactory for a local survey, but when several independent local surveys are brought together, their lines are quite apt not to "fit" unless each survey has been made under a geodetic control survey.

Q. How many women have been awarded Doctor of Civil Law by Oxford? C. E. M.

A. Until recently Queen Mary of England was the only woman so honored. Miss Emily Penrose, famous educator has recently had the degree bestowed.

Q. What are the balls made of which are used as Christmas tree ornaments? C. D.

A. The decorations used on Christmas trees are made from various materials. The colored balls are generally made of very thin glass.

A NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Editor Post-Crescent.—Undoubtedly, one of the most important questions before the city of Appleton today is that of a new Senior High School. It is a question of such importance that it is being debated in the schools and discussed in the various luncheon clubs. To those unfamiliar with the exact status of the situation let me present a few facts.

In 1922, with the approval of the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education, a committee composed of state educational experts visited our city and investigated the educational system of Appleton. Their report was on the whole very discouraging, especially that on the high school. They found that the present building lacks:

1. An adequate auditorium. The present assembly hall has a legal seating capacity of 600, while its present seating is over 800. The acoustics are extremely poor, due to the insertion of these wooden beams under the ceiling. Which were necessary to prevent the roof from caving soon after the building was erected.
2. Adequate gymnasium facilities. Our gymnasium has been compared to a "small sized cheese box."
3. Adequate classrooms of proper dimensions, arrangement and lighting.
4. Adequate study rooms.
5. Adequate library. We should have a library capable of seating 100 per cent of the entire enrollment. We can, by sheehorn squeezing, manage to pack in 40.
6. Adequate art and music rooms.
7. Adequate and properly arranged shops and domestic science rooms.
8. Adequate biological laboratory.
9. Adequate ventilation.
10. Adequate toilet facilities.
11. Adequate dressing rooms for gymnasium.

The cause for these deficiencies lies in the fact that the school is excessively overcrowded. The building was originally erected (1904) to accommodate 450. It was later reconstructed to pack in 150 more. Today we have an enrollment of 825, with an overload of 90 per cent over the original capacity, and an overload of $31.2 per cent over the limited increased capacity, and what the coming years will bring we know not. Coupled with these facts is the difficulty of our inadequate location. We are situated only three blocks from the business district of the city and find ourselves bounded on two sides with trunk highways, on one side with a street car route, on 3 sides with arterial highways, and find the Northwestern Railway located within a stones-throw of the present structure. I challenge anyone to find a noisier spot in the entire city of Appleton.

Undoubtedly, the answer to these arguments will be the cry: "We cannot afford a new high school at the present time," but an investigation shows that we may bond the city to the extent of a per cent of the city's tax revenue, or the sum of $700,000 for a new school, which coupled with the money we could secure from salvage from the present building would be enough to erect an adequate structure. To those who believe that we would be spending too much money for erecting a new Senior High School, let me remind you that every day we are forced to hold six classes in Moose Hall, with a rental charge of one thousand dollars per year. We are forced to do this because we have not adequate facilities in our own building. The rental charge of the Moose Hall is thirty dollars per night, which expenditure would be eliminated if we had an adequate gymnasium. And finally, it is necessary for us to hold the Junior Prom in a hotel rather than in our school, for we have not the necessary space. Did it ever occur to you that the Senior High School Fishermen Appleton Theatre and Lawrence Memorial Chapel $381 each year, that sum due for rental charges for the presentation of operas and plays? We could save that sum if our auditorium was large and ample. Let us put the money element in the reason for not erecting a new building. It might be well to consider the capital expended each year to outlast interests for the rental of only one thing—"space"—which we lack at the present time. Let us soon have the present school at the rate at which we are wantonly wasting money at the present time.

And summarizing, let me remind you that the old Senior High School building is excessively overcrowded, that it lacks adequate facilities, is a fire trap, contacts with the state fire, sanitation, light and ventilation laws, and added to all the difficulty of its poor location, we must for the welfare of future generations erect a new structure.

Broadway Scale Brands Evangelist A 'Flop'

BY GENE COHN

New York may interest the 15,000 faithful of Angelus Temple to know that the Broadway she consigns to perdition is ready to give their little girl Aimee a chance any time she agrees to take the sin out of dancing.

Here in a town that thinks it knows a little about the show game, Mrs. McPherson actually is labeled as a type too familiar to win anything but a contract from those who know a box-office when they see it. It is willing to be amused by her, but not converted.

GOOD BALLYHOO WOMAN
Broadway, somehow, does not discriminate between a good ballyhoo man for a medicine show and a good ballyhoo woman for the old-time religion. Broadway slants a certain similarity of method. But which borrowed from which is relatively unimportant.

Now that it's all over and the evangelist is winding up the first cross-country religious revival ever staged in the wake of a nationally digested scandal, her business managers might jot down that there are some things in the show game a good Broadwayite can never forgive. One of these is not cashing in on your publicity.

And when Aimee came to this town and failed to open at the Madison Square Garden or Carnegie Hall, Broadway took the same attitude as might be affected if a widely advertised spectacle opened in a 900 capacity theater. Chatter would at once convict the manager of being timid of his drawing power.

BARN-STORMING 'FLOP'
Again, in taking stock, there are reasons for feeling that the white-robed, cloak-furled spellbinder who found a colossal temple built to her personality out in Los Angeles, was pretty much of a "flop" in her national barn-storming tour.

The theatrical magazine, Variety, which has been recording her tour as it follows road shows, has printed from week to week reports of gate receipts that indicated anything but a hit. Curiosity seekers, Broadway has long since learned, are poor cash contributors, and while, even in this sophisticated metropolis, there are a couple of thousand folk who have learned to chant their "glory be" and "hallelujah" at the proper moment of a revival, the tabloid influence is certain to bring out the sort of people who pack a courtroom for a Brown-ing-Peaches separation case.

However, the dynamically optimistic Aimee says she sees signs everywhere of the return of the old-time religion. She feels that in cities, towns and hamlets the unrest and chaos of mind breathes of strained souls that need to be restored by evangelical methods.

"Yes, it's coming back—the old-time religion. The hundred per cent Bible. And they will never be happy until they get it," says Aimee.

HUGE PANS FOR MONEY
But Broadway is a bit cynical of altruism, particularly when huge pans are passed about as collection boxes and the appeal is for bills over silver and the money is hurriedly carted away to a hotel safe.

Broadway's slant on Aimee is quite impersonal and without animus. It is willing to grant even, that it has been a mighty poor year for road shows and to give due credit to one who can pack in 15,000 people and provide a church entertainment that keeps them coming back.

If, says its chieftains, the theater

STEEL BLADED AXES END "KING TUT'S" REIGN OVER FOREST

Towering over Wisconsin forest land for more than 400 years, "King Tut's" reign over the north woods ended recently, a victim of steel-bladed axes.

Detroned by the hand of man, it gave up its kingdom to the next generation of pines. On the edge of a low marsh in Forest-co, near state highway 32, it lorded it alone over a cluster of hardwood trees.

"King Tut" stood seven feet thick at the stump, seven feet of flawless pine. For 24 feet it reached upward into the air, a picture of natural symmetry. It yielded one 14 foot and five 16 foot logs, and 9,000 board feet. A good sized barn could be made from the tree alone, it is said.

Woodsmen estimated the age of the giant tree at 467 years, a count of the rings in the trunk having revealed this information. Something more than memory of the giant pine still remains, however, the butt log having been mounted at Wabeno as a monument.

is the hell pictured by the evangelist, then she is approximating hell as closely as possible in many of her own performances.

NEW FASHIONS A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN BEAUTY HINTS

Broadway Star Believes Pajamas Should Take Their Place In Sports; Ruth King Designs Wardrobe Made Up Of Pajama-Gowns

NEW YORK. — "Come out of the bedroom pajamas," is the cry of Ruth King, Broadway star. She believes that pajamas should take their place in the ballroom, the drawing room, on the street and on the golf course.

And in answer to those who think pajamas must suggest the boudoir, she has designed a wardrobe made up of nothing else but.

Miss King believes that women are "fed up" on unimaginative clothes in which black, gray, beige and blue are given the places of honor in the color scheme.

She believes that we need color, lots of it, and that we need combinations of color to give individuality and distinction. The woman who blossoms out under rich scarlet and vivid green should not be condemned to drab colors.

Likewise she believes that fabrics should be soft and satiny to the touch and that practical wools and jerseys should be shored aside for more glamorous crepes and velvets.

Miss King says nothing about the type of figure to which the pajama costume really applies, but the photographs would seem to indicate that it is another fashion move of interest only to the slim and slender.

Four of the costumes are here illustrated, with Miss King acting as model.

The first at the left shows what can be done to achieve formality in an evening pajama-gown. The trousers are of midnight blue taffeta. The over-gown is of chateau velvet and striped metal brocade, the latter forming loose panels attached with shirring at the hips.

The next costume is intended for the street. The pajamas are of orange crepe de chine, and the coat is of blue and orange kasha, with trimming applied in curved lines.

With this outfit, Miss King wears distinctly feminine hat and shoes. In sports especially, is the pajama suit useful. The picture third from the left shows an ideal suit for golf. The trousers are of blue-satin, drawn in at the ankle by a cuff of the same striped velvet which makes the coat.

The fringed girdle hanging at the left gives femininity, without interfering with the wearer's freedom of movement.

The illustration at extreme right shows a pajama negligee or morning gown. The trousers are of blue satin, and the jacket or rose lace.

The cuffs of the trousers are bands of rose satin beaded with pearls.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE flock of wee folks ran along, and then broke into song. I guess they all were happy as real laughter ruled supreme. Said Scouty, "My, 'twill be a treat when we can all sit down and eat. I can't imagine I'm awake. It all seems like a dream."

The little children from the shoe did everything that they could do to make the band of Tummies have a lot of real good fun. They'd play leap-frog, now and then, and then take up their run again. In fact, they thought of everything for pleasure 'neath the sun.

The next thing that the Tummies knew, they heard a loud and merry "Moo-o-o-o!" And Clowny stopped his running as he shouted, "What was that?" Then Scouty quickly looked ahead. He saw a big brown cow, and said, "We needn't fear she'll chase us, 'cause I think she's much too fat."

They finally reached the old shoe.

Bright Red Frock Worn Under Coats

That 10-pound look cannot be achieved unless one wears a high crowned hat, it seems. Imported spring models are even higher crowned than winter models, the height being achieved in various ways. Sports models have their high crowns dented, dimpled or crushed into becomingness while dressier models use telescope drapes, tiara cuffs, satin bows or long spike hatpins to add an effect of height. Flat crowns are absolutely taboo.

From recent window displays on Fifth-ave one would surmise that black silk coats trimmed in black monkey fur would be the "Foids" of the spring season. Almost every shop is sponsoring these coats, which are made on straight lines, with fur applied on the collar, scarf ends, skirt borders or fronts from neck to hemline. Models in the windows are worn over bright red silk frocks.

DRESS HANDKERCHIEFS
The most popular dress handkerchief is a little square of colored georgette bordered in wide gold silk lace. The chiffon matches the color of the gown.

Cotton dance frocks with skirts elaborated with gathered horizontal or diagonal tiers, petaled ruffles, floating drapes or loose shoulder panels are forerunners of the spring mode. Reds ranging through pink, rose and turquoise are extremely popular. Black chiffon and lace combinations posed over flesh toned slips also are represented. White continues its usual springtime popularity. Annotated chiffon frocks will be favored above more ornate beaded models as spring advances.

BRACELETS OF ANTIQUE DESIGN
Reproductions of antique bracelets are selling as low as $5 in the shops. Wide gold or silver bands terminating in buckles are a popular antique type and duplicates are worn on either arm. Also new are bangle bracelets of colored enamel which set in sets of a dozen, the entire dozen to be worn on one arm. These cost around $4.50 a dozen. Narrow gold dangles and tortoise shell dangles also are popular.

Some of the newer chiffon dance frocks use five matching chiffon flows falling from the shoulder down the side of the body. One pink frock has its front neckline outlined with large petaled chrysanthemums of graduating shades of pink.

Twin finger rings are a fad with flappers. Especially favored are twin scarabs set in silver which are worn on the small fingers of either hand.

HEADDRESS FOR EVENING HAS AFRICAN NOTE

White for both sport frocks and evening gowns is emphasized in spring showings. Gold and silver decorate the evening models.

Pink and blue are combined in a charming 2-piece crepe de chine evening gown. Pale cameo pink forms the top of the jumper, the lower portion of which is widely hemmed with blue and a bias band of gold. The pleated skirt is made of blue crepe. The clasp for this ensemble is of blue turquoise crepe, trimmed with gilded ermine.

The newest sweaters are made in "Coat of Mail" style of an extremely simple and light metallic material of dull gray color.

CUT CRYSTAL BELTS
Belts made of cut crystal, alternated with silver or metal plates are very smart. They are worn on sport dresses of navy blue, gray red or violet woolsens as well as on long, light colored sweaters.

An afternoon gown of pistache green crepe de chine is trimmed with silver ribbon and gray fur which edges the bottom of the skirt. The green velvet coat which covers it has collar and sleeves also trimmed with gray fur.

Red and blue are combined in a charming ensemble. Diagonal red stripes make an original pattern on the upper portion of the jumper, giving the effect of a vest and they trim the ends of the scarf that forms the collar of the coat.

Evening slippers of silvered leather are now in vogue. Some have a rosy tint. Others a slightly lavender hue. Draped on the side of the waist and finished in a large graceful bow, an evening gown of gold lace is embroidered with red roses. A dash of deep liberty blue hangs in soft folds from the bow.

For 2-piece sport costumes, there are a great many knitted jumpers of dove shade, white and geranium for instance, fleamish blue and white or two tones of gray, ranging from pearl gray and slate.

LIGHT BLUE FOR HATS
A medium light blue is used for many of the spring hats.

Sleeves are becoming elaborately trimmed again. Some are ornamented with metal lace. Others are embroidered from the shoulder down the arm. Have you noticed the new evening coiffures? A kind of head-band that fits tightly on the forehead and almost hides the eyebrows—directly derived from African custom? They are broad in front and taper away to the neck. They are made of two bands of lace which hold tresses of pearls, green, mauve or blue surde cloaks exactly made to match the frock, the wrist of which is embroidered in tiny old beads is the latest creation of Parisian glove makers.

Slippers in red, green and blue Japanese crepe with a red leather heel are very gay.

FASHION HINTS

GREEN AND GOLD
Pale gold satin combined with a fringe of light green ostrich, makes an exquisite evening gown for a black-haired woman.

PLEATED JABOT
A tailored blouse of white crepe de chine has a double pleated jabot of self-material with a line of small pearl buttons down the center.

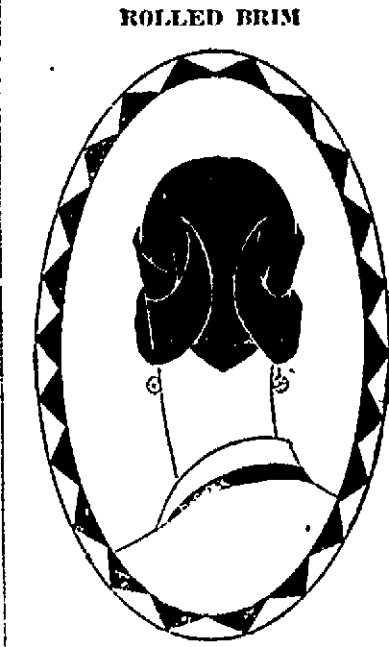

UNBROKEN CONTOUR
Though spring frocks have darts, turks, pleats, insets and shirrings, they preserve their unity of line in repose, while achieving pleasing motion the moment the wearer takes a step.

HIP DRAPERY
Most of the new afternoon frocks show some suggestion of drapery, shirring or pleating about the hips. The large hip bow of self-material is very good.

ETON FROCKS
Eton ensembles, consisting of a short jacket and straight little dress, are in favor for the school child from 8 to 11.

The boy who is educated in school or the boy who is being educated by experience should learn one thing thoroughly well. After that, with reasonable application, his life will order itself. If you start the game of four-flushing you will have to keep it to the end.

Fashion Plaques

The tiny rolled brim, interestingly treated in black, makes this black felt hat less difficult to wear.

Love Letters Of The Great

AS COMPILED BY DIANA RICE

CHARLES I OF ENGLAND

1600-1649
It was at a court ball in Paris that Charles, then Prince of Wales, met his future wife, Henrietta Maria of France. Although he was on his way to visit the Spanish Infants already chosen to be his bride, he seems to have lingered sufficiently long at the French court to have left a portion of his heart behind him when he journeyed southward. At any rate, two years later he married the French instead of the Spanish princess. Despite many weak and ill-advised moves during his reign, which finally cost him his head, Charles was a loyal husband and a tender father. The domestic life of his court was in fine contrast to that of his son Charles II, who succeeded him, and whose mistress were legion. Charles I. To Henrietta Maria Oxford, Feb. 13, 1643

Dear Heart—I never knew till now the good of ignorance for I did not know the danger that thou wert in by the storm before I had assurance of thy happy escape, we having had a pleasing false report of thy safe landing at Newcastle, which thine of the 19th of January so confirmed us in that we at least were not undeceived of that hope till we know certainly how great a danger thou hast passed of which I shall not be out of apprehension until I may have the happiness of thy company. For, indeed, I think it not the least of my misfortunes that for my sake thou hast expressed so much love to me that I cannot but be obliged to repay by anything I can do, much less by words. But my heart being full of affection of thee, admiration of thee, and impatient passion of gratitude to thee, I could not but say something, leaving the rest to be read by thee out of thine own noble heart.

NEW JUMPERS WILL BE VERY MUCH TRIMMED

Ere you jump to the conclusion that jumper frocks are out of style, let us inform you that they will be jumping back in favor as spring advances. They are the most fashionable type of frock at Palm Beach at present. The new jumper is not, however, the simple unadorned sack-like affair of last summer. It takes on coat lines in many instances with lapels, reverses or scarf collars. Again, it becomes a dressy affair with appliques of batted velvet or contrasting colored silk, colorful or eyelet embroidery. Belts are invariably used about the hip-line and more likely than not they are embroidered or made of leather trimmed in gold applique. Often the belt offers the only color contrast. Skirts, however, continue short, plain or pleated, and of solid color.

BLACK BROADTAIL COATS
The most fashionable coat of the moment is made of black broadtail, trimmed with wide fur collar and cuffs. The black fur coat, with brown trimming, has been one of the outstanding styles of the season and this idea is being carried out on spring coats of black velvet with sable or mink collar and cuff treatment. The smartest pink or sable collar is made of two or three entire animals in stole effect. Cuffs likewise have head, feet and tail of the animal falling at one side.

FRINGE IS POPULAR
Fringe has become so popular again that we now see dinner gowns made entirely of fringe. One model selling at $195 is made on a straight lined black georgette foundation. This model is sleeveless and has a rather deep rounded neckline to which is attached an 18-inch width of black fringe. This forms a bolero effect of fringe which extends below the normal waistline. Two tiers of deep fringe completely conceal the skirt foundation. This makes a pretty dance frock when copied in colors.

FOUR-FLUSHING DOES NOT PAY

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I HAVE tried to remember where I saw the wise and witty remark recently that the trouble with people nowadays is that too many live on hope and too few on reality.

At any rate we have the sentiment and let us consider it. What happens to the youth who meanders along with his head above the clouds and who forgets to keep one foot on terra firma?

I shall take as a concrete example one man I know of, thirty-six years of age, who did not believe in preparedness.

He graduated from high school and went to work. His parents offered to help him with his education if he would work out the rest of it himself. He laughed a sure and worldly little laugh beyond his years. I can see him now cut the air with his hand, saying, "Dunk! Dunk! That's all bunk about the fellows waiting round for the school to get good jobs. I tell you the whole world is four-flushing. I can try it as well as the rest, I guess. It's the fellow who isn't afraid and sticks out his chest who gets there. You don't catch me waiting four years in college or anywhere else."

He seemed to know. His parents did not insist and he went to work at some sort of an odd job—I forget what it was. The first thing he did was to buy himself a signet ring, and the second thing was to buy a watch. I remember that. And I remember several years of a rather wild time.

It did look, too, as though his philosophy of four-flushing and bluff was going to work out, for it was surprising the big jobs he could land. But so diverse were his occupations, and so frequent his changes of venue that I began to have my doubts. I knew that under it all was absolutely no foundation of education either in the school of experience or the school of books. His history has repeated itself several times.

In the last two years he has lost four positions, all high salaried ones. It seems that his nerve, looks and elastic spirits are still carrying him through in a way, but his health is already breaking and he is losing his youth. He is beginning to worry. What will he do when his house falls completely and there is no foundation?

The boy who is educated in school or the boy who is being educated by experience should learn one thing thoroughly well. After that, with reasonable application, his life will order itself. If you start the game of four-flushing you will have to keep it to the end.

Club Seeks Law to Help Out Indians

A letter regarding the Indian welfare to representatives from this district congress and the Wisconsin legislature was authorized at the meeting of the board of directors of Appleton women's club Thursday afternoon at the clubhouse. The American Federation of Women's clubs is making an effort to have a welfare bill passed which will provide for funds for the education, health and public welfare of Indians to have them under the state boards of health and education which now control the white population. The national federation of clubs has asked all of its members to use their influence in the passage of the bill.

Plans were made for a card party to be given immediately after lunch for the purpose of making money to be used toward redecorating the clubhouse this summer. The house committee will have charge of the party. The E. O. Sisterhood will prepare and serve the luncheon at the general meeting of the club on March 10, it was announced. Mrs. Louis Loebe Hamburger of Chicago, formerly of Appleton, will give a program at the meeting.

Mrs. E. H. Krug was named chairman of a committee to plan a program to be given at a meeting of the Kaukauna Women's club at Kaukauna in the spring. She also will arrange with the Kaukauna club for a date for the meeting. Members of that club presented a program at an Appleton meeting this winter.

A nominating committee was appointed to make a slate of candidates to be posted not later than April 1 at the clubhouse. Elections will be held at the April general meeting of the club but the new officers will not take office until after May which will close the year's meeting programs.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Joseph Koford, Jr., Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, Mrs. George Wettengel, Mrs. Roy Marston and Mrs. Charles Green. Alternates are Mrs. James Wood and Mrs. R. K. Wolter.

FREMONT HAS NEW RESIDENT DOCTOR

Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—Dr. H. A. Schultz of Ripon opened his office in the rooms above the Fremont, State bank Tuesday, March 1. He is a graduate of Marquette university, Milwaukee, and has had three years of professional practice. With his family he is living in the Hahn house. He succeeds Dr. C. F. Rehling, who died Jan. 19.

The road and bridge committee of the Waupaca and Clintonville road district, consisting of Richard Popko, chairman; Bernard Jorgenson, secretary; and S. M. Meyers, and County Highway Commissioner John C. Huffcutt, Chairman Charles Peters, Sr., and George Platz, of the townships of Fremont and Clintonville, met at the Fremont town hall last night. The committee will be in charge of buying land and making adjustments for cutting shade and fruit trees and moving buildings, required by the new paved road, which consists of 20 feet of concrete and 10 feet of fence lines. All adjustments have been made in the town of Fremont, but the right-of-way has not been bought to the county line near Dale. A number of landowners in the town of Caledonia remain to be paid. The contracts for paving on highways 18 and 95 will be let March 31.

Fred Fisher of Waupaca, member of the county board, reported that the state engineers are considering plans to have the pavement elevated 18 inches above the surrounding country on highways 18 and 95, in order to make snow removal unnecessary, they point out. This new idea of the engineers will cost more money, and Mr. Fisher believes that the hilly country in Waupaca-co would cause the roads to be drifted in winter, even if the road bed was elevated 18 inches.

"CASEY" BORN ON BACK OF ENVELOPE

Chalk up another big idea which first saw the light of day upon the back of an old envelope.

The story of Wallace Beery's starring comedy, "Casey at the Bat," which comes to Fischers Appleton theatre Monday for 4 days was outlined on the back of a paper wrapper by Hector Turnbull, Paramount featured producer while at luncheon one day in the studio restaurant.

It will be recalled that Lincoln's Gettysburg speech was written on the back of a White House envelope as the president's train carried him to his destination and that the words of "The Star Spangled Banner" were also first conceived on an envelope.

It is of interest to know that one of the great motion picture producing companies in the industry, what is now Famous Players-Lasky corporation was organized on the reverse side of a menu card in Hector's, New York City. The document was drawn up by Jesse L. Lasky and represented an initial capitalization of $20,000.

The story of "Casey at the Bat," was adapted from Hector Turnbull's original "envelope" story by Reginald Morris and Monte Brice and the screen play prepared by Jules Furthman. Monte Brice directed.

BILLY, A DIRECT DESCENDANT OF THE FAMOUS JOHN L.

"THE SPEED CHAMPION," starring that redoubtable young man, Billy Sullivan, comes to The New Bijou today and Saturday.

For the dyed-in-the-wool fight fan, there is many a thrill in this comedy-drama which concerns itself with the activities of a young man who, living in a small town in the Middle West, is suddenly taken under the wing of a fight promoter from the big cities who makes a champion of him. Those who enjoy a real fight will find in this two-fisted fighting boy, Sullivan, a thrill a minute. Because young Sullivan tosses a nasty punch with either hand and can—and does—stand it no matter how rough the going gets. In fact, we don't know when we have seen a more realistic fight than the one which Mr. Sullivan puts over in this instance.

Virginia Vance is exceedingly attractive and appealing as the small town belle whose hand the champ wins after his victory over the crook pugilist, Johnny Sinclair has some funny bits as the sparring partner for the star. The rest of the cast was also good, including Joe Moore, Max Ascher, George French, William Malan, Henry Melnar, and Babe London.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

(Readers of The Post-Crescent are invited to send their bridge problems to the Bridge Editor of The Post-Crescent and they will be forwarded to Mr. Work, author of these bridge articles. Mr. Work will answer every letter.)

THE POINTER FOR TODAY IS: Jack-10 five-card suits may be bid initially if the hand contains three quick side tricks.

In the article today we are considering the weakest suit that ever is specified as a sound original suit-bid of one: Jack-10-xx being the suit under consideration. Jack-9-xx-xx would not meet the requirements; Jack-10-xx-xx and three others is sufficiently dangerous. One disadvantage of a suit situation apt to result from the bid of a Jack-high suit turns up.

WORK

When the contract is obtained on the left of the bid and partner with King and one of the Jack-suit opens that suit. Such opening may be extremely expensive. On the other hand, with such a holding as:

Sp: Jack-10-xx-xx Ht: Ace-King-xx
Dt: Ace-Jack-xx Cl: xx the hand is distinctly too strong to pass; it might readily be the pacesetter out of a game hand. It is not an attractive No Trump distribution and is more apt to be a Spade game and not a No Trump game, than to be a No Trump game and not a Spade game. Therefore with any such combination, a Jack-10 five-card suit should be bid. With greater side strength, for example: Sp: J-10-xx-xx Ht: Ace-King-Jack Dt: Ace-Queen-10 Cl: xx, the same one Spade bid would be in order; and it also would be with greater length.

for example Sp: J-10-xx-xx Ht: Ace-King-xx Dt: Ace-xx Cl: xx.

In connection with the above, it should be appreciated that no Bridge statement is made unequivocally ("always" and "never" being words which are not contained in a Bridge vocabulary); and that there readily may be hands which, by reason of their freakish length in the suit and unusual side strength, should be bid with less than Jack-10 at the top of the suit. But these hands turn up so very rarely—perhaps once in a decade—that to give them specific attention would be merely to confuse unnecessarily.

Tomorrow the following hands will be discussed:
1. Sp: Ace-xx Ht: Ace-xx-xx Dt: Queen-xx Cl: xx-xx
2. Sp: Ace-King-xx Ht: King-Jack-xx Dt: xx-xx Cl: xx-xx
3. Sp: Ace-xx-xx Ht: King-Queen-xx Dt: xx-xx Cl: xx-xx

MEASLES SHOW SLIGHT INCREASE LAST WEEK

There was slight increase in the number of cases of measles reported to the health department last week, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. A slight epidemic started in a section of the city which had not been visited by the disease during the winter. It is expected that there will be a decrease in the number of new cases within the next week; however, according to Mr. Sanders, no other cases of contagion were reported during the week.

COMMISSION PERMITS UNIFORM PHONE RATES

Madison—(P)—The Railroad Commission has rendered a decision making it possible for independent telephone companies operating in Wisconsin to put into effect, upon approval by the Commission and without further formal action, the present standard rates for toll service.

This decision applies only to rates on toll lines where rates substantially equal to the standard rates of the Wisconsin Telephone Company are in effect at the date of the decision. It does not apply to service on lines where free service was furnished at that time nor to those lines where only nominal rates were in effect for the purpose of restricting unnecessary use.

This action was the result of an effort by the independent telephone companies to equalize their toll rates with the toll rates of the Wisconsin Telephone Company now in effect and which were authorized by the Commission in previous decision. The rates authorized in the earlier decision applied to messages transmitted jointly over the toll lines of the Wisconsin Telephone Company and connecting companies. This decision will permit the establishment of more uniform toll rates throughout Wisconsin.

DENY COMPENSATION TO WIDOW OF DROWNED MAN

Madison, Wis., —(P)— Application of a widow for compensation for the death of her husband, who drowned on the premises of an employer, has been denied by the state industrial commission.

The commission's decision was based on the information that Elzie Meyers, keeper of a dam and power house near Tomahawk, Wis., stepped outside the course of his employment when he attempted to go from a walk-way to a pier.

Meyers slipped from the pier and was drowned. Permission had been granted to relatives to fish from the pier and he was going to join them on the pier when the accident occurred. The granting of permission was in itself a violation of regulations, the commission said.

TAKE IN NEW MEMBERS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Death strikes GARRETT FOLSON while bathing with a party at Ocean Town, N. J. At the HOTEL MAJUSACA, where they had been guests, an inquiry is begun, after a doctor, perfunctorily examining him on the beach, pronounces him dead.

Folsom's companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON. It is established that Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the Copper King. Folsom's sister, ANASTASIA, is sent for in New York. Then the startling announcement is made that Folsom had been stabbed to death in the water, RUSSELL, his valet, is questioned, as are Barron and his wife, but no light is shed on the mystery.

Police take command of the situation until the arrival of Anastasia. They learn that Folsom and Neville had been business associates.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X
Garrett Folsom's sister, Miss Anastasia, blew into the Hotel Majusaca that evening.

She made such an entrance as the Queen of Sheba might have made on her historic visit to Solomon. And to carry scripture analogies still further, she was terrible as an army with banners.

Accompanied by a maid and followed by a string of porters carrying her hand luggage, she strode into the hotel and demanded the manager.

"I am Miss Folsom," announced the new arrival. "I want the best rooms you can give me. Or, better yet, let me have the suite my brother occupied; that is sure to be the best in the house."

"I can't give you that just now, madam," Tuttle told her, "for the police have it in charge. But I feel sure it can be arranged that you may occupy it while you are here, and you will take another room for the night."

"No I will not. Get hold of the police and tell them I insist on having those rooms. Who else could have them? And why let them go to waste? They're good rooms, aren't they?"

"Very good," Tuttle said. "Then I want them and I mean to have them. Lord, I've enough trouble ahead of me, without being put into an uncomfortable bed! Paxton, take this bag, and take my coat."

She turned to the woman at her side, who obediently helped her off with her traveling coat.

Miss Anastasia wriggled herself out of the enveloping folds and stood, a militant, belligerent figure before the desk as she waited for her keys.

She was tall, heavy and of a commanding presence. She would have been ungainly, save that she possessed a certain air of sophistication and good breeding that was accentuated by her clothes.

These, thought of a pronounced masculine cut, were perfectly tailored and fitted exactly the muscular, vigorous shape.

An ensemble of black cloth with trimming bands of black Bengaline, was of the latest mode and its lines adapted to make the very best of her somewhat difficult figure.

A close, small hat of black Bengaline covered almost entirely her bobbed hair, which escaped in front in little curls of mingled black and gray.

Altogether, as to manner and garb Miss Folsom was correct but her face was of the type that has long had the reputation of interfering with the motive power of a timepiece.

It was large and long. The high cheek bones were prominent, the nose, though undeniably aristocratic, was large and aquiline. The eyes were gray and glinting and darted about in angry impudence. And the mouth, a snapping, thin-lipped affair, promised unpleasant consequences to those who incurred the lady's disapproval.

Yet her maid seemed to evince no fear of her stern-visaged mistress. Nonchalantly she took the coat flung at her, carelessly she accepted the bag, and then stood waiting, but scanning with interest the gay scenes about her.

Those nearest were at once observant of Miss Folsom, for no one could be near her and not notice her. Already she was leaning over the desk, adding admonitory gestures to her spoken insistence on immediate service.

"But, Miss Folsom," Tuttle implored, "please realize I can't do this thing in a minute. I will confer with

FOUND WONDERFUL

RELIEF FOR CRACKED, BLEEDING HANDS

Had almost screamed with pain

Reading, Pa., Oct. 20:—"I am writing to tell you what great relief Resinol Soap and Ointment have brought me. I had such terrible sore hands. They were dry and cracked open, which caused them to bleed. When I put them in water the pain was so great I could have screamed and I could scarcely do any work at all. I had sent for a sample of Resinol Soap and Ointment, but I had tried about a dozen different remedies which brought no relief, so I had little faith in them and they had not been used. At last, however, in desperation I began to use your samples to see what good they would do, and was greatly surprised and delighted at the wonderful relief they gave. Now I would not be without Resinol Soap and Ointment, and my husband and children are also users of your preparations. (Signed) Mrs. John Macchemer, R. F. D. No. 2.

LITTLE JOE

MAYBE THE SPRING FEELING IN THE AIR IS DUE TO RADIO WAVES.

"Ross—the valet of Mr. Garrett Folsom. Where is he? Get him at once!"

"Yes—yes, ma'am. I'll—I'll see about it."

"Don't see about it! Get him! Now—immediately!"

But assistance came from an unexpected quarter.

Tutty, passing, heard the demand, and his quick mind leaped to the conclusion that here was the sister of the dead man, and therefore a possible chance for services on his part that might bring welcome emolument. The Folsoms were rich and the lady was evidently anxious.

"You Miss Folsom?" he inquired, with his seraphic smile. "I'll find Ross for you."

"Oh, heavens, boy! Can you? Do then. Get him and bring him here."

But Tutty was gone even before she finished speaking.

And he returned in a very short time with the man in question.

"Oh, Ross," and in her stress of emotion, Miss Folsom grasped his hand. "Isn't it awful! What shall we do?"

"Awful, yes, ma'am," Ross agreed, keeping his poise and proper attitude, even though Miss Anastasia seemed on the verge of hysterics.

And, indeed, the poor woman lost her nerve at sight of the familiar figure of her brother's valet. Hitherto, the strange sights and sounds had so diverted her mind that her personal loss was more or less submerged, but Ross' well known face and voice brought back the realities of her life and she almost collapsed.

"Now, now, Miss Stasia," Ross said, in a low tone, "you must brace up, you know. And don't stay here, ma'am. There's so many people about, and they're all so curious. Won't you—"

"What do I care?" she cried, angrily. "Did I ever notice people, Ross?"

"But they notice you, ma'am, and it's not so good. I make no doubt you can go into one of the offices of the management."

"Of course I can! I can go where I like! But I prefer to stay here. I thought I'd see Mr. Neville before this—oh, there he is, now!"

And even as she spoke, Roger Neville approached, holding out his hand in greeting.

WERNER'S TERM IS AMONG SIX WHICH EXPIRE IN JANUARY

Secretary of State About to Announce Judicial Elections
to Public

Madison—(AP)—Notice of the Wisconsin judicial election, to be held the first Tuesday in April, or April 5, will soon go to the public from the secretary of state's office.

It will call for election of one supreme court judge, several district and municipal judges, men to hold the benches of jurists who have resigned and of one who disqualified and will probably require a vote on two constitutional amendments.

The supreme court justice will be elected for a term of ten years to succeed Justice Walter C. Owen, whose term expires in January, 1928.

The other positions to be filled are: Circuit judge, third branch, second judicial district, Milwaukee, term of six years, to succeed John T. Gregory, whose term expires in January, 1928.

Circuit judge, six year, tenth judicial circuit, Langlade, Outagamie and Shawano-co, to succeed Edgar V. Werner, whose term expires January, 1928.

Circuit judges, six year term, seventh circuit, Clark, Jackson, Juneau-co, to succeed Elmer W. Crosby and tenth circuit, Chippewa, Eau Claire, Rusk and Sawyer-co, to succeed James Welcham.

Judge for the second branch, civil court of Milwaukee, to fill unexpired term of Joseph Padway, resigned, whose term would have expired in January 1930. William F. Quisk is on this bench.

Judge for sixth branch, same court, succeeding Joseph L. Cordes, whose term expires January 1928 and for the seventh branch, term of six years, succeeding Thomas J. Mahon, whose term expires the first of next year.

The "additional" judge of the Milwaukee county court, to serve six years, succeeding John C. Karel, whose term expires the first Monday in June.

Judge for Barron-co, filling unexpired term of H. S. Comstock, holding the bench by appointment following the death of Andrew F. Wright, whose term would have expired in January, 1932.

Judge of Buffalo-co, succeeding G. L. Peterson, who was disqualified and replacing Glen V. Pierce, appointed judge, the term expiring in January, 1932.

Municipal judge for Rock-co. (Beloit) for unexpired term of Chester H. Christenson, appointed to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of John B. Clark, term expiring May 1930.

A county judge of Dane-co, succeeding Frank L. Gilbert, appointee who took Judge A. G. Zimmermann's place when he resigned, term ending January 1931.

Municipal judges for four year terms succeeding those whose terms expire in May and June in these county courts: Barron, second and third, Bayfield first, Oneida, Rusk, Sawyer, Vilas.

Municipal judge in Polk-co, succeeding James L. McGinnis, appointed in place of the late C. S. Roberts; term expiring in May, 1929.

The constitutional amendments, which must yet be passed by the senate are:

Permitting classification of forest and mineral lands for taxation; and raising the salaries of legislators from $500 to $1,000 per annum.

FRIDAY GAMES
E. GREEN BAY AT APPLETON.
 Fond du Lac at Manitowoc.
 Marquette at W. Green Bay.
 Oshkosh at Sheboygan.

Coach Joseph Shields' Appleton high school cagers conclude a successful home season at Armory G Friday evening with East Green Bay high school as the opposing team. Only one game was lost here all year, that being to Fondy in an overtime battle. Meanwhile Lawrence college's cagers, fresh from a wonderful comeback which enabled them to beat Marquette by a large margin, entirely conclude their season with games with Carroll and Beloit. The former is a W-I conference battle and the latter a Midwest. The games are Friday and Saturday evenings.

A special feature of the game here will be the throwing of 1000 feet of apples by Appleton's state high school free throw contest. The throws will be taken at the half and after the game. Five local girls, chosen in elimination contests, will throw in the girls meet and five of the best boy free throw sharks will be entered in the boys' meet. Every one of the boy cagers is a first-team cager. Reetz, Strutz, Lutz, Pfeifferle and Capt. Steinberg shooting throws. The Appleton girls have a chance for the state title if they case around 110 shots. Manitowoc won it with 111 last year. Each player receives 50 throws.

In the Appleton game here the Orange is picked to win over East Bay's team, which was broken down completely early in the season when Coach Wiley, to maintain real discipline, dropped five regulars and two subs for smoking. However, too much confidence of victory may give the Orange a defeat. Manitowoc goes into the battle with Fondy, the game which really decides the conference bunting, badly crippled and the Fruthmen are favorites for a victory. Appleton follows.

LOSERS CAPTURE VOLLEYBALL TITLE

FINAL GAMES
 Boaters 2, Foulers 1.
 Losers 2, Jinx 1.
 Dubs forfeit to Crabs.

Taking two games of three from the Jinx team Wednesday evening in the final matches of the Y. M. C. A. League, the Losers clinched the loop championship with 13 wins and but 2 losses. The Jinx team was in second before the match and could have tied for the title by taking three from the leading Losers. The scores were Losers—8, 15; Jinx—15, 9. The loss of the two games sent the Jinx team down to third, below the Crabs who had been tied for second place with the Jinx. The Crabs took three games from the Dubs on a forfeit to finish alone in second. The forfeit shot the Dubs from a fourth place tie to fifth. The Foulers lost two games of a match to the Boaters but still clinched from a tie for fourth to a lone fourth by the Dubs three-game forfeit. The scores were Boaters—15, 8; Foulers—7, 15. The Boaters won the title by raising them from the cellar position.

Members of the five teams will choose their 25 best men basing their choices of work during the tourney. These men will be formed into six teams and will stage another tourney. At the end of the second meet the six best men in that event will be chosen by their mates with a few alterations and these players will represent the local association in the state meet later in the year. Appleton finished second in the state meet two years ago and last year finished in a triple tie for first. The local men lost out in the playoff a few weeks after the regular meet. The team are Herman Gutschow, captain, Dr. R. V. Landis, M. M. Bacon, George Dams, Alden Johnson and P. C. Wesco.

Atlanta, Ga.—W. L. "Young" Strubling, Macon, won a technical knockout over Leo Gads (4).

Arthur De Kuhl, Italy, scored a technical knockout over Pat Lester, Tucson, Ariz. (2).

Losers will be praying for a dope upset to give the Orange a first place tie. Players who probably will see service with the Orange against East are Lutz, Strutz, Reetz, Johnston and Murphy, forwards; Laird, center; Steinberg, Kunitz, Moore and Pfeifferle, guards. All but Strutz are seniors and will be playing their final home game for the Orange, losing more than a full team to Coach Shields next year.

Lawrence's great comeback has stirred hopes of the Blue following an example by setting the Fruthmen to beat Beloit and possibly Carroll, both ancient rivals. With play like Tuesday evening, neither would be impossible in fact both should happen.

Alta, Ga.—W. L. "Young" Strubling, Macon, won a technical knockout over Leo Gads (4).

Lawrence's great comeback has stirred hopes of the Blue following an example by setting the Fruthmen to beat Beloit and possibly Carroll, both ancient rivals. With play like Tuesday evening, neither would be impossible in fact both should happen.

It was the Braves who raised havoc during the last few weeks of play by consistently trimming the two leaders, St. Louis and Cincinnati. As a matter of fact, the late season success of Boston against Cincinnati just about put the Reds out of the running.

As a whole, Boston will present much the same front as last year. Two changes are possible, only one of them of a drastic nature.

The one experiment Bancroft is now working on is the use of Eddie Moore at third base. Moore, it will be recalled, is a second sacker. He played that position for Pittsburgh in 1925, helping it to a pennant and world series.

Bancroft believes Moore can be converted into a capable third sacker. He has a remarkable throwing arm and is able to get the ball away quickly from any position. That is a most necessary asset.

Standing in the vicinity of third, coaching Moore is Arthur Devlin, coach of the three greatest players to ever fill that role in the majors.

Ability, plus the best of coaching, may solve the third base problem for the Braves. Bancroft—there is none better—will be at short, Gautreau at second and either Fournier or Burrus at first.

The other contemplated change from the 1926 lineup is the use of Lane Richbourg in right field. That is a difficult sun field at the Braves park and Richbourg is expected to prove capable of taking care of a troublesome spot. Eddie Brown and Jimmy Welsh will probably complete the outfield trio.

With a young ball club that has profited by last year's experience, the improvement of an added punch plus the certainty of better pitching, make Manager Bancroft hope for better things than seventh place this season.

Of one thing I am sure: regardless of where they finish, the Braves will be a troublesome ball club to a lot of pennant contenders.

BY BILLY EVANS
 St. Petersburg, Fla.—You hear no pennant talk in the camp of the Boston Braves.

The members of the team which finished seventh in the National League race seem to realize that from seventh to first is quite a hurdle.

However, don't get the impression the members of the Boston Braves don't think they form a pretty good ball club.

Led by the remarkable Dave Bancroft, who seems to lose none of the uncanny ability that has characterized his play since he broke into the big show, the Braves are set to show the world that Boston has a better club than the near tail-enders of last season.

The Braves are shooting at fourth place, the first division. That would be a rare achievement. Incidentally, any club able to keep acquainted with the first division is always a pennant possibility.

Manager Bancroft is hopeful of better things when he looks over the showing made by the Braves during the last 50 games played last season.

During that time, in one of the most hectic races ever staged in the National League, the Braves played better than .600 ball.

RIPON CAGERS TAKE FIRST TITLE IN SIX YEARS

Special to Post-Crescent
 Ripon—After their victory over Lawrence last week, these Ripon college lads have closed their season by walking off with the Wisconsin-Illinois basketball crown. They also placed high in the Midwest conference.

Notre Dame-Badger Meet Shows Even-Matched Teams

Madison—When the track teams of Wisconsin and Notre Dame dig their spiked shoes into the ground for the first event of the Badger-Irish track meet Saturday afternoon, spectators will see two track squads evenly matched in every contest, with the result of the meet in doubt until the final event.

The fast Notre Dame squad is undergoing strenuous workouts daily in preparation for the coming meet, as are the Badger track stars, and there is no doubt of competition from the visitors. Bor, the Irish vaulter, has shown excellent form this year, especially in the Notre Dame-Illinois meet, when he cleared the bar at 12 feet.

In the high hurdles, the Badger captain will have to face Griff, who turned in the snappy time of 06.1 over a 45 yard course against Marquette, and won the event from Illinois with a time of .08 over a yard distance.

In the high jump, Notre Dame has a good man in Lahey, who won honors in this event against Marquette, but will find it difficult to cope with McGinnis. The fast invaders have excellent chances for points in the 40 yard dash with a classy field composed of Capt. Della Maria, C. Riley, and J. Riley. At Evanston, the Irish took all three places with this speedy trio of sprinters.

In the distance races, both teams are about balanced as far as material goes. While J. Zola and S. Zola will probably run for the Badgers, Notre Dame will place Young against the Badger stars. In his last race Young traveled the two miles in 9:32, while J. Zola won that event for Wisconsin against Iowa with a time of 9:38 5-10.

In the half mile, Erickson, the Badger trackster, will find strong competition in Masterson and Judge, two fast Notre Dame men. Erickson placed first in this event at Iowa City with a time of 1:33 5-10 and Masterson was leader in this event against Marquette with a time of 2:12 4-10. In the relays the two schools appear to be on a par. The Notre Dame quartet, composed of Kelly, McGauley, Lahey, and McDonald, will run against the Badger relay team that placed at the Illinois Relay Carnival last week.

As an added attraction for the Saturday program, there will be a series of races between the freshman and Varsity reserves. The events planned for the Fresh are the 40 yard dash, the sprint relay, the mile run, and the half mile. These have been inserted into the program to hold the interest of the spectators, and to assure plenty of action.

ROOSEVELT HIGHS TAKE CITY TITLE

Coach Pickett's Five Trounces Wilson, 27-13, to Hold Clean Record

STANDINGS	W.	L.	Pct.
Roosevelt	4	0	1.000
Wilson	2	2	.500
McKinley	0	4	.000

Trouncing the Wilson high squad for the second time this season Thursday afternoon at Roosevelt gymnasium, the Roosevelt high cagers won the 1927 Appleton junior high school cage title. The team, coached by William C. Pickett, walked off to a 27-13 triumph in easy style to remain undefeated for the year and wreck Wilson's hopes for a tie for the top, theirs if they had won the game. It was the second straight junior high title won by the Red cagers since the start of junior high athletics in Appleton a year ago last fall. Wilson won the first title and Roosevelt took the second this fall.

Last year the teams each won at home and in the deciding game at Armory G, Roosevelt conquered in a close game by a few points. This year in four games Roosevelt has run up well over 100 points on opponents, having one score of 47, and held the two foes, Wilson and McKinley, to 20 points, 13 of which were made Thursday by Wilson.

Berg, Red guard, lead his team to victory with four ringers and six free tries for 14 points and Kneip added four baskets and two free throws for 10 more. Steinacher, Chinsky and Stip scored three points each for the losers. The game was fast and rough and two Wilson and a Roosevelt player were removed on personal fouls.

Lineups:
 Roosevelt—Kneip and Peterson, forwards; Breitrick, center; Smith and Berg, guards; Kinsimball, Zimmerman and Wolgram.
 Wilson—Steinacher and Chinsky, forwards; Quirk, center; Stip and Minschmidt, guards. Subs—Van Ryzin and Bechtolt.

New York (AP)—Lou Bogach, Bridgeport, Conn., outpointed Billy V. Gaback, Bayonne, N. J., (10).

James J. Bradlock, Jersey City, defeated Lou Bania, New York (10). Pierre Decaluwe, Belgium, beat Speedy Dean, Chicago (11).

ST. MARY CAGE FIVE BEATS LITTLE CHUTE

St. Mary school basketball team had an easy time swamping Little Chute 23-1. Wingrove, lanky center of the winners lead his team with three baskets one a long try, and every member of the team scored at least once to run up 19 baskets. Jones, Mortell and West scored twice from the field and McClone once and Mortell added three free shots beside showing classy dribbling. Jones played a good floor game.

Mortell started the scoring with a long shot followed by two by Wingrove. The half ended 8-0. West scored two ringers in the third quarter. In the final period Mortell scored a basket and three free tries, McClone added a basket and Mortell added two minutes with a center shot. St. Mary called the final minutes. The St. Mary lineup was Wingrove, center, Jones and West forwards, Mortell and McClone, guards.

SHARKEY BATTERS M'TIGUE HARD TO WIN IN TWELFTH

Boston Heavy Fights Way to Last Elimination Scrap With Jimmy Maloney

New York (AP)—Two rugged Boston heavyweights, Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney Friday stood head and shoulders above all aspirants for the championship of Gene Tunney.

As a step toward the final relief of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament in the most dramatic encounter of the series Thursday night, Sharkey scored a technical knockout over the veteran Irishman, Mike McTigue, in the twelfth round of a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden. Maloney won his spurs two weeks ago by outpointing Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, in ten rounds in the same arena.

More thrills and gore sprinkled Sharkey's victory Thursday night than have been packed into all previous battles of the tourney. It was the struggle of another good little warrior, another Delaney, against a rugged, battering good big man, another Maloney.

In defeat McTigue was as stirring as ever he has been since a sensational knockout campaign that numbered Paul Berlenbach among his victims and brought him to the greatest opportunity of his career almost at the sunset of his fighting days.

But McTigue, 33 years old was waded to his corner, brave but battered after two minutes and nine seconds of fighting in the twelfth round. Blood gushed from his mouth where a moment earlier Sharkey's glancing right had smashed a tooth and broken blood vessel inside his cheek.

The 170-pound Irishman was hampered and cut by the young American of Lithuania ancestry, Josef Cuckoski, through the final stages before the accident ended the struggle. Sharkey, 25, was too young, too strong for the feisty McTigue. Early in the battle Michael made his bid for a knockout, a daring smashing sally that dashed Sharkey despite the Boston's 19-pound advantage. McTigue poured in a furious attack that cut Sharkey's eye and split his lip. In the crushing right hand push to the chin, Sharkey too flinched, and as blood seeped from his lips, smashed forward with both fists flying.

Mike was groggy in the tenth and eleventh rounds and his left eye was out. He claimed a foul in the eleventh that was not allowed.

GENE NOT INTERESTED
 Delmonte, Calif.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey's victory over Mike McTigue at Madison Square Garden Friday night held little interest for Gene Tunney, he said Friday. The heavyweight champion declared he was ready for all comers and expected Sharkey would defeat McTigue.

BILLIARD PARLORS IN TEAM CUE GAMES

Arrangements were completed between managers of two local billiard parlors this week for a team pocket billiard match between representatives of the parlors. The arrangements were made by Eugene Carr of Carr and Hanson and Harold Pindle of Pindle and Reinke. Henry Hammer and Charles Schaefer will represent the Carr and Hanson parlor and Harold Pindle, state champion, and Lawrence Reinke will represent their parlor.

Two games will be played one at each parlor. The first will be held at 8 o'clock, Monday evening, March 7, at the Carr and Hanson parlor. The games are free to the public and all cue enthusiasts of the city are invited to attend.

REXOLA PIN QUINT TAKE STATE TITLE

Hoppies Weiners Finish in Tie for Fifth as 1927 Classic Ends

Racine (AP)—Rexola Cigars of Milwaukee were officially crowned team champions in the silver jubilee state tenpin classic here Thursday night when the last team shift fell far short of their 3,201 count. The twenty-fifth annual tourney will come to a close shortly after six o'clock Friday when the last shift of doubles and singles completes the attack on the maples.

Leaders in all the events remained undisturbed as a result of Thursday's attack. The highest rung was grabbed by C. Hecker, Kenosha, who langed 381 in 212, 228 and 244 to place fourth in the singles. Fred Hengst, Racine, also placed well up in the individual event when he crashed through the setups for a 669 count on games of 189, 223 and 258.

C. Smith and F. Buttrick, Racine, collected the best team count Thursday with 1,236 and A. Ellison and E. Hoff, Kenosha, came in second with 1,218.

C. Adsit and Hub Ammen, Milwaukee, collected the only other 1,200 mark Thursday, 1,202.

The Theodore Otten five, Milwaukee, collected high in the team event on 2,902, games on scores of 838, 938 and 1,066. Jensen Recreations, Racine, was second high in the team event Thursday with a 2,848 total.

New York Friday night held little interest for Gene Tunney, he said Friday. The heavyweight champion declared he was ready for all comers and expected Sharkey would defeat McTigue.

MICHIGAN, ILLINOIS MEET FOR MAT TITLE

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—The wrestling champions of the eastern and western divisions of the Big Ten, Michigan, and Illinois, meet here Saturday afternoon to struggle for the conference title. The Illinois, coached by Paul Prehn, have won the championship the last two years.

East St. Louis, Ill.—Johnny "Peewee" Kalsner, East St. Louis, beat Betting Morris, Duluth (10).

Hot Springs, Ark.—Billy Peterson, Michigan, defeated Al Walther, Youngstown, Ohio, (10).

"Many singers find, as I do, that throat protection and greater pleasure are found only in Lucky Strikes."

Edward Johnson

Edward Johnson, Celebrated Tenor

Why he recommends smoking Lucky Strike —because "It's Toasted"

EDWARD JOHNSON, the famous tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York City, owes much of his fame to the ever-dependable quality of his voice.

When smoking, he prefers Lucky Strikes because they give the greatest enjoyment and throat protection.

Lucky Strikes are smooth and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. They are made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process in treating the tobacco.

Smoke Lucky Strikes—you'll like them.

ORANGE TRACKMEN IN 1ST TELEGRAPH MEET WITH WAUSAU

Appleton, Northerners Scheduled for "Clash by Wire" on April 22

Appleton high school trackmen will participate in the first telegraphic track meet ever held by an Orange squad and one of the first ever held by a state high school circles on Friday, April 22, with Wausau high as the opponent, according to Coach Joseph Shields. The meet will be run off as the result of the invitation of the Wausau high coach, Clyde "Cabby" Ewers, old Lawrence college four-year gridiron and track star. Big Ten schools held telegraphic meets each year.

The plan is to run the races and field events in the telegraphic meet, the results to the other high school and award the meet to the school with the most points. Coach Shields plans to have the inter-state track meet on April 22 and the time of the winners in each event will be used. In this way the time for practice for the conference meet will not be shortened any more than is necessary.

The time or distance of the first three men to finish in each event here are compared with those of Wausau's first three men and the winners chosen according to the fastest times or most distance. Orange track prospects met on the cage squad already are practicing in the school gymnasium.

DEL MONTE BERRIES From the vines to the cans in the shortest possible time is the Del Monte policy in packing all varieties of berries. The packing is confined to not only the best variety of each kind but likewise to those districts where each kind of berry is grown to the highest degree of perfection. These berries are picked at the very height of their ripeness. The time from the field to the can taking only a very few hours. The heavy syrup in which Del Monte berries are processed blends with the rich juice preserving the natural color of the fruit and producing a delicious combination that is unsurpassed from the standpoint of flavor and delicacy.

NOW—The Large Lumber Manufacturers Are Marking Lumber

Few people actually know the difference between the many kinds of lumber. The lumber dealers have endorsed this movement, and now every one can tell whether they are getting first grade lumber or not. This is a step in the right direction. These progressive merchants and manufacturers should be complimented on their efforts, in protecting their patrons interest. Voecks Bros. are working toward this same goal in the meat business. Shortly you will be able to buy Meat, marked in much the same way.

Sure Way to Stop Night Coughing

A Treatment That Ends Night Coughs
in 15 Minutes

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. A remarkable prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, and is guaranteed to stop the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails, get your money back. No chafe, no germ or other harmful drugs. Safe for children. Equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Volgt's and all good druggists.

SENATOR SUGGESTS RAISE IN PAY FOR CIRCUIT JUDGES

Propose to Increase Salaries from $6,500 to $8,000 a Year

Madison—(AP)—During a three hour extended senate session Thursday the passage of Senator McHugh's bill marked the day's activities in the upper house.

Bills brought up for discussion stimulated the expected arguments. But few went so far as passage. The joint resolution introduced by Assemblyman Prescott memorializing Congress to provide for a nationwide referendum on repeal of the Volstead act was laid over until Wednesday.

Senator Morris' bill relating to strikes and lockouts was also postponed and will be brought up at next Thursday's calendar. The bill concerning the repeal of a statute passed during the last session asks that a measure of terminating a strike be formulated.

Several bills introduced by the committee on judiciary were offered. The first bill related to the serving of summons in justice courts which according to the bill, must be served only by sheriffs or constables, taking the privilege from private persons.

A second bill would allow any persons to prosecute or defend any suit in state courts without being required to give security for costs, upon filing a statement that because poverty that person is unable to pay such costs.

A $1,000 increase in the salary of present circuit judges was suggested. All circuit judges taking office after July 1 would receive $8,000. The committee on judiciary also proposed advancing the salaries of supreme court justices whose term of office will start after July 1, from $8,500 to $10,000.

The committee on state and local government introduced a bill which would abolish all division offices in the state highway commission, centralizing those branch offices into one main office at the state capital.

EMPLOYMENT ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION DROPS

Madison—(AP)—Highway construction, the object of attention in political circles for the last month, has sharply declined as a means of employment, the industrial commission announced in its monthly report.

"In no other industry was the decline as marked," the report said.

"Highway construction has dropped 45.7 per cent; retail trades, 29.9 per cent; building, 9.8 per cent; and wholesale trade at 3.7 per cent.

"In manufacturing, while none of the industries showed declines, a few showed increases, as follows: automobile manufacturing, 4.8 per cent; saw mills and planing mills, 3.9 per cent; rubber, 1.9 per cent; tobacco manufacturing, 2.9 per cent.

"As compared with a year ago, the number of workers is considerably smaller. The important decreases are as follows: manufacturing, 6.4 per cent; building, 24.6 per cent; hotels and restaurants, 5.1 per cent; retail trades, 5.6 per cent. On the other hand, a few industries showed increases, as follows: stone crushing and quarrying, 5.4 per cent; highway construction, 9.1 per cent; and wholesale trade, 10 per cent.

ECZEMA ON BABY'S CHEEK Caused Loss of Sleep. Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema broke out in little pimples on my baby's left cheek. It kept getting worse and the eruptions scaled over. After a while the eruptions would break, and the irritation caused loss of sleep. At times he was very cross. The trouble lasted about six months.

"I tried several different remedies but without success. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. D. Jeanguenat, Steward, Ill., July 2, 1926.

ORIENTAL RUGS

Tomorrow
Will Be Your Last
Opportunity
To Buy
Exceptionally Fine Orientals
at The Low Prices
of This Week

MR. GABRIEL returns to Milwaukee on Saturday night and with him goes the chance to buy rarely lovely Oriental rugs at considerable price savings. If you have not already seen his collection of Orientals, you must not miss the opportunity of doing so, for rugs of such glorious color and design are not often seen outside of large cities.

There are Persian rugs in all sizes and typical Far East patterns whose silky finish is a constant delight to the eye. Turkish rugs, too, that are marvels of patient weaving, are here in all the soft colors characteristic of fine Oriental work.

Make it a special point to stop in the Rug Section on Third Floor tomorrow and prepare to be pleasantly surprised at the moderate price of the very rug you want.
